Auto strike accord set, official says

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. reached tentative agreement on a new contract today shortly before the old pact was to expire, union officials said.

Word of the settlement was relayed by UAW officials in Indianapolis, Ind., Lordstown, Ohio, and Pontiac and Flint, Mich.

There was no immediate announcement here from negotiators, who had continued contract talks through the night. Sources said final contract language was being worked out as the 10 a.m. deadline passed.

"Yes, there's been a settlement," said Dallas Sells, UAW regional director in Indianapolis. "We just got a call, but we don't have any details of the settlement."

The agreement would complete national bargaining with the three major automakers. Agreements were reached earlier with Chrysler and Ford.

Tony Zone, president of Local 1112 at the GM Vega plant in Lordstown, Ohio, said he received word of the settlement at 8:15 a.m. EST, less than two hours before the contract was to expire.

Negotiations continued through the night in an effort to reach agreement before 10 a.m., when a series of "ministrikes" against individual GM plants was expected to begin.

No details of the reported settlement were available immediately. The UAW represents 415,000 GM workers.

A spokesman for the union at the Lordstown plant, one of those listed to be hit with a "ministrike," reported earlier that the local had been told to "hold tight" while talks continued here in the early morning hours.

The union has said there will be no national strike in the absence of an agreement, but a series of ministrikes at scattered GM plants.

The union has not revealed which other facilities might be struck.

House recess to delay final action

Energy bill approval nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate smarting from charges of inaction is nearing expected passage of emergency legislation that would give President Nixon most of the powers he says he needs to meet the energy crisis.

But the bill, which was scheduled for a final vote late this afternoon, could not become law until some time next week at the earliest, since it also must pass the House which does not return from Thanksgiving recess until Nov. 26.

In his Saturday news conference, President Nixon said Congress had not acted on energy proposals he had made as long as two years ago. Nixon said Congress had sent him only one of his seven pieces of priority energy legislation, the Alaska pipeline bill.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., reacted to the President's statement by saying flatly, "He is wrong." Appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," Mansfield accused the President of being long on rhetoric and proposals but short on specific legislative programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said Nixon's statement was "very hard to understand." Proxmire said "the President simply hasn't grasped" the severity of the situation, which according to a Library of Congress study could result in fuel shortages of up to 35 per cent.

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, predicted that the crisis could lead to a zero growth rate for the nation next year and a 6 per cent drop in industrial production. Rockefeller, interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said the economists' best estimates is that the fuel shortages will result in a cut of $3 million a day in the economy's growth.

Mansfield and Proxmire also differed with the President on the need for gasoline rationing. Nixon said in his televised press conference he hoped to avoid rationing.

According to Mansfield, Nixon's reluctance to impose rationing is "just paving the way to a recession next year." Proxmire said, "I think gasoline rationing is essential, we have to have it no matter what happens, no matter how much relief we might even get from the end of the Arab boycott."

The measure before the Senate today would give the President the authority, but not require him, to order rationing of gasoline or any other scarce fuel.

The bill by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also would authorize such energy-saving steps as lowered thermostats, reduced speed limits and shorter school days. Another energy-conservation measure, which the President had not asked for, would cut the size of the federal government's limousine fleet.

A provision authored by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, would permit the burning of high-sulphur oil and coal by allowing violations of clean air standards.

The bill also seeks to make maximum use of available fuel supplies by giving the President power to order oil and gas burning power plants to convert to coal.

Two youths charged in vandalism spree; damage set at $2,000

Two Washington C.H. youths have been charged by police in connection with a nighttime foray of destruction which left behind damage estimated at nearly $2,000.

Police Chief Rodman Scott termed it "senseless vandalism".

Apprehended at 3:40 a.m. Sunday were Steven E. Beverly of 510 S. North St., and a 17-year-old companion who have been charged by police with one "suspicious person" count each; three counts of malicious destruction of property and one count of malicious destruction of a public facility (a felony).

After a barrage of calls concerning the vandalism, police were dispatched to the south side of the city,

Patrolman Larry Hott caught up with them in the 100 block of S. Main Street as they hid under cars.

Involved in the case are at least 18 incidents involving malicious destruction:

Forest Leach, 131 W. Oak St., reported a gas cap stolen from his car; Frank Boso, 549 W. Elm St., a pipe thrown through picture window; Arthur George, 1130 S. Hinde St., window broken in house; William R. Glover, 320 Oak St., gas caps stolen from his two cars, license plates bent, antennas torn off; his nephew, Timothy J. Glover, whose car was also parked in the driveway, reported a license plate torn off; Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, 619 Warren Ave., car antenna torn off; Tim Carson, 628 Warren Ave., car antenna torn off; a meter for a control traffic signal at the corner of Elm and High Streets smashed;

Kent Riggs, 211 Oak St., car battery smashed in street and license plate bent and twisted; Gladys Whitaker, 829 Comfort Lane, three separate thermopane windows broken out; Bobby Joe Gentry, 223 Oak St., gas cap stolen and gas tank filled with dirt and gravel; Ernie Herman, 502 Comfort Lane, sparkplug wires and hoses torn off car, and gas and radiator caps stolen; Richard Maughmer, 643 Warren Ave., gas cap stolen and license plate bent; Robert P. Harris, 652 Warren Ave., antenna torn off car, gas cap stolen, wiper blades bent; Maurice B. Hopkins, 660 Warren Ave., side mirror torn off car; Robert Ankrom, 613 Warren Ave., antenna torn off car; Phil Morrow, 644 Warren Ave., antenna torn off pick-up truck; David Bivens, 425 W. Oak St., windshield wipers bent.

Beverly is under $2,000 bond, set by acting Judge John P. Case, pending a hearing on the charge of damaging the traffic light power meter, a felony charge which carries a penalty of up to three years in prison.

The 17-year-old boy was to have a hearing in Juvenile Court Monday.

POLICE REPORTED a theft at the Col. Sanders restaurant, 501 S. Elm St., at 7:04 p.m., Sunday.

Area youth faces 9 forgery charges

Arraignment proceedings for a Washington C.H. area youth charged by city police on nine counts of check forgery were scheduled Monday afternoon in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Police Specialist Larry Walker said Merle Jones Jr., 18, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., is scheduled for arraignment today on nine charges.

Jones was arrested on one count of forgery Saturday, and Walker lodged the eight other charges against him Monday. Jones allegedly had forged counter checks with a fictitious name.

Greece sets up detention camps

ATHENS (AP) — Police and soldiers rounded up a number of construction workers and youths today and took them to a temporary detention camp set up in one of Athens' soccer stadiums.

Some construction workers took part in last week's student-led antigovernment demonstrations, and many stayed off their jobs today. A number of large construction sites in the city were operating with scores of workers missing.

Security police also were arresting leaders of construction unions, reportedly blaming them for their workers staying off the job.

Tanks and soldiers in full battle gear patrolled the main squares of Athens and a military helicopter circled overhead on the lookout for new antigovernment demonstrations.

Students heading for the university were stopped for identity checks. About 100 of them were taken to detention centers for questioning.

At a hastily called morning news conference, government spokesman Spyridon Zournatzis said that 866 workers and students, 150 of them women, were arrested during the street fighting Friday night. He said 662 have been released.

The government disclosed that nine were killed Friday night and four Saturday. The Athens medical examiner said six of the victims were bystanders, including a 22-year old Norwegian woman and a 5-year-old Greek boy.

Some stores were closed today and many construction workers were absent from their jobs, but the morning rush hour traffic was jammed as usual.

Curious office workers stopped briefly to gaze at the tanks stationed at central squares. Troops stood guard alongside police officers at main thoroughfares.

On Sunday, Zournatzis reiterated the position of Premier Spyros Markezinis, who has pledged free parliamentary elections in 1974.

"Our mission is to prepare the nation for elections as soon as possible after order is restored," Zournatis told newsmen.

Last-minute Chest appeal under way

The three-day blitz is on!

The 15 members of the Community Chest Board of Directors started out Monday morning to close by Thursday the gap in the campaign to raise $27,000—more if possible—to support the programs of 10 local organizations next year.

The gap is not a big one, since there was approximately $24,500 in the Chest when the blitz started.

Midway in the campaign, President Lee Lynch announced the board had set Nov. 15 as the tentative deadline for winding up the canvass. But later, when it became evident at a board meeting last week that the goal would not be reached in that time, the three-day blitz was planned.

Approximately 100 business places, industries and employe groups remain to be called on by the directors and a few volunteers. They will report to Chest headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce late Wednesday.

Jim Dunn, campaign secretary, said the canvass of both the city and rural (by mail) has been completed. However, he added, a few checks have been coming in from those missed by the compaigners.

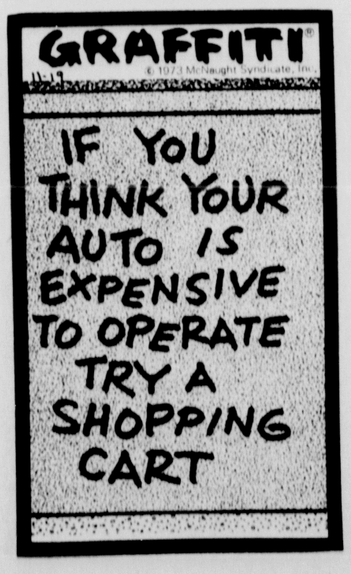
Hayes gets nomination for high federal post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Education Association has nominated former Ohio Education Association president Paul C. Hayes and one other educator for the highest education post in the federal government, the Ohio Education Association said today.

The association said Hayes, chairman of the Educational Administration Department at Akron University, and Mrs. Catharine Barrett, immediate past president of the NEA, were nominated as assistant secretary for education in the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department.



Cooling system plagues Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space officials say that if a space station cooling system cannot be revitalized, the Skylab 3 astronauts' planned record flight might have to be cut short.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson brought from earth a repair kit to fill the leaky refrigeration loop with a fluid called Coolanol. They were to punch a hole in a service line this afternoon and attach a container of the fluid.

The space agency said Saturday night that Alan B. Shepard, chief of the astronaut office, had reprimanded commander Carr for an attempt by the spacemen to conceal that one of them had been sick.

Shepard told Carr his action was "a fairly serious error in judgment." Carr replied, "Okay, I agree with you. It was a dumb decision."

For the last two days, the astronauts have been activating Skylab systems and moving several hundred pounds of film, recording tape and tools from the Apollo ferry ship into the 118-foot-long station.

They also started medical experiments that will continue throughout their planned 84-day flight to assess the affect of long-term space travel.

The troublesome cooling system — for water, certain electronics and some food compartments — developed a slow leak while the Skylab 2 crewmen were aboard in August. They switched to a backup loop.

Mission control said that if the repair job is unsuccessful and the secondary loop fails, the mission might have to be cut short because some food would spoil and some electronics might fail.

The space agency also wants both loops in operation so the men can use water cooling instead of air cooling for their suits during space walks. Water cooling is more efficient and enables the astronauts to remain outside longer and work harder.

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said outdoor work scheduled for Thanksgiving day to repair a stuck antenna and change telescope film could be completed in one six-or seven-hour space walk with water cooling. He said air cooling would restrict outside activity to about four hours, and the repair job would have to be spread over two days.

Pogue suffered from motion sickness Friday, and mission control officials reported Saturday night that the crew had tried to keep secret his vomiting.

The control center learned of the vomiting when the astronauts accidentally left a tape recorder running during a discussion of the cover-up attempt. The recording was transmitted automatically to the control center.

4 youths slain in park

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Four teen-age youths have been found shot to death in a park near here. Authorities sealed off the area and said they would not comment on any motive in the slayings.

Preliminary police reports indicated the boys, between the ages of 14 and 17, were from South Dakota. But their names and hometowns were not made available.

Police sealed off the Gitchie Manitou Park in extreme northwestern Iowa about 10 miles from here after the bodies of the four youths were found Sunday.

Authorities said they found two of the bodies at what they believed to be the scene of the slayings. The other two had been dragged a short distance away, police said.

The Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the Lyon County Sheriff's Office have begun an investigation that includes a search for a dark blue van, believed to have belonged to one of the boys.

The bodies were taken to a Rock Rapids, Iowa, mortuary for identification and notification of next of kin.

Ben-Gurion critically ill; founder of modern Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, who led Israel from its violent birth in 1948 into modern statehood, was in critical condition today after suffering a stroke, hospital officials say.

A Tel Hashomer Hospital spokesman said that the 87-year-old former premier had been "calm and sleeping" since he entered the hospital Sunday after being stricken at his apartment here.

Ben-Gurion's personal physician, Dr. Boleslaw Goldman, said a blood clot on the right side of Ben-Gurion's brain had paralyzed the right side of his body.

Dr. Goldman said Ben-Gurion was conscious and "feeling better" after receiving treatment throughout the night.

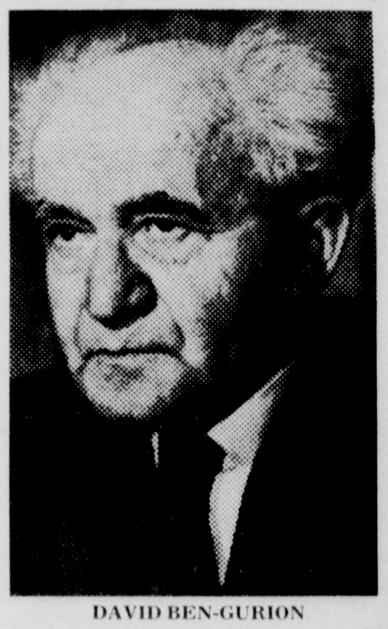
"We have hopes for his recovery, but they are guarded," he said.

Ben-Gurion resigned as premier in 1963. After several more stormy years in parliament, he retired from public life in 1970 to spend most of his time in quiet seclusion at his home in Sde Boqer, a kibbutz in the Negev.

He first arrived in Palestine, the land later to become Israel, as a 20-year-old immigrant from Poland in 1906. Working as a laborer at the Jewish settlements that were then springing up in Palestine, he became a leading figure among Palestinian Jews under Turkish and then British rule.

Expelled by the Turks in 1915, he went to the United States to raise money for the Zionist cause. There he met and married Paula Munwess, who died in 1968.

When the British finally left on May 14, 1948, Ben-Gurion declared Israel an independent state and led his people in the fierce fighting with the Arabs that followed.



DAVID BEN-GURION

As the nation's first premier and its dominant figure for 15 years, Ben-Gurion labored to transform the desert into farmland and to forge the strong modern state of Israel.

He said the nation would not really exist until it had fully developed the desert and had tripled its population. Then, peace with the Arabs would be possible, he said.

"How long will it take?" he said a year ago on his 86th birthday. "I cannot tell you. I believe it can be done in 10 or 15 years, but I am not certain."

Nixon broadens counterattack on Watergate

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's 1973 campaign to put Watergate behind him once and forever has begun in earnest with the embattled President embracing the role of underdog.

After holding an unorthodox live television-radio news conference Saturday in which he felt compelled to assure his fellow citizens that "I am not a crook," Nixon made a flying trip to politically friendly Georgia Sunday that had all the earmarks of a quest for votes.

Resorting to the sort of regional appeal beloved by politicians, Nixon paid tribute to the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League as "the comeback team of 1973" because it won five straight games after opening the season with one win and three losses. Perhaps, he mused to a Macon audience, he should talk to Falcon coach Norm Van Brocklin "and find out how they did it."

Although the Macon stop produced a sometimes-noisy demonstration by several hundred young people who chanted for resignation or impeachment, the large crowds of Georgians who turned out were generally friendly, if far less enthusiastic than most campaign gatherings.

After a week of private huddles in Washington with congressional Republicans and selected southern Democrats, Nixon has gone public with a Watergate counterattack that is expected to produce more public appearances, sessions with the news media and presidential statements.

Nixon's decision to go marching through Georgia, officially to honor the 90th birthday of retired Democratic Rep. Carl Vinson and the 100th anniversary of the Mercer University Law School, was made within recent days.

In similar fashion, the President gave little advance notice of his Saturday TV-radio appearance at the Disney World, Fla., convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Both stops, plus a Tuesday stopover at a Republican governors conference in Memphis en route back to Washington, were fitted quickly into

Governors eye stand on Watergate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Republican governors meeting here are wrestling with a variety of unofficial proposals to collectively speak out on Watergate and the head of their party, President Nixon.

Some kind of resolution on Nixon appeared certain to be offered during today's first business session of the Republican Governors Association's winter conference. Any action might await Nixon's planned visit to the convention on Tuesday.

The question was what kind of resolution could be approved. Suggestions ranged from staunch support for Nixon to a call for him to clear up the scandals for the sake of the rest of the party.

"We're human beings. We suffer through these things. But we're not going to be housemen to the White House and try to whitewash something that is one of the sorriest pages in American political history," Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said at a news conference Sunday.

"The President has got to earn his way back from the morass of misery he finds himself in," McCall said. "It seems to me the success of the Republican party in gubernatorial elections will be in direct proportion to the success of the President in restoring his own credibility.

"You still have to remember that the President is the titular head of the Republican party," he said. "And there is some imagery cast on Republicans everywhere."

Small arms fire along Suez Canal mars cease-fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Egyptian soldier was killed when Israeli and Egyptian soldiers exchanged small arms fire along the Suez Canal early today, the Israeli military command said. No Israeli casualties were reported.

A command spokesman said a fire fight erupted near Ismailia on the western bank of the canal and another near Ayun Musa in the Sinai Desert near the Gulf of Suez where he said Egyptian forces were trying to advance their positions. He said the Egyptian was killed near Mt. Ataka on the western side of the canal.

Israel had said that it will begin a judicial probe into charges of military mishandling during the first stage of the October war when Egyptian tanks and men stormed across the Suez Canal and captured the eastern bank.

The government announced Sunday that the investigation will be conducted by a five-member commission and the findings will later be made public unless they are ruled militarily sensitive.

At the same time, the Egyptian war minister, Lt. Gen. Ahmed Ismail, said that Egyptian military errors and misjudgments helped the Israelis establish a foothold on the Egyptian side of the canal during the final days of the war.

But he said the October war succeeded in breaking the Middle East stalemate and changed the image of Egypt and the Arabs as a whole. He said that Egypt militarily was in much better position on Oct. 22 — the date of the first U.N. cease-fire — than it was on Oct. 6 when the war began.

Egypt has charged that Israel violated the cease-fire on Oct. 22 and expanded its foothold on the western bank of the canal prior to a second ceasefire on Oct. 24. Military experts say that movement resulted in the isolation of the Egyptian 3rd Army on the eastern bank of the Suez Canal and of Suez city on the southern tip of the canal.

The announcement of the Israeli investigation came amid continued furor over initial setbacks the Israeli army suffered when war broke out with Egypt along the Suez Canal and with Syria in the Golan Heights on Oct. 6. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has said that Israel had no inkling of war until the morning the shooting began.

A cabinet statement said that the investigation will cover "the army's deployment for war in general, its preparedness in the days prior to the war and its actions until it held back the enemy."

Government sources said the inquiry most likely will seek to find out why Israeli intelligence did not forsee that war was imminent and whether Israel was quick enough after the initial outbreak in mobilizing its citizen army.

During the first hours of the war Egyptian tanks rumbled across bridges over the Suez Canal and captured a strip of land along the eastern bank, including Israel's highly touted Bar-Lev Line. In the Golan Heights, Syrian tanks initially overran numerous Israeli positions.

Lon Nol palace hit by bombs

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A Cambodian air force fighter bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound this afternoon with four 250-pound bombs, witnesses reported.

They said Lon Nol was unhurt, but three other Cambodians were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Antiaircraft gunners around the palace said the plane, a propeller-driven T28, approached the compound from the east and dropped two bombs at 4:30 p.m.

The pilot, Lt. Pech Lim Kuong, was on a mission to bomb on Phnom Penh's southern perimeter around the Highway 2 region, military sources said.

The lieutenant was reported to have told the air base control tower that he had some engine trouble and he could not continue his mission and that he was returning to base.

The control tower radioed it was okay for him to return.

He diverted on his way and headed toward Lon Nol's palace instead of landing as two other planes on the mission had done, military sources at Cambodian headquarters said.

The first bombs hit in a simultaneous explosion on a large conference hall inside the presidential compound. The next ones hit a minute later.

The last attempt on Lon Nol's life occurred last March 17 when a renegade Cambodian air force officer dropped two 500-pound bombs in the vicinity of the presidential palace and struck a barracks compound nearby. At least 36 persons were killed and dozens injured in the attack, but Lon Nol was not in the palace at the time.

The pilot, identified as Capt. So Potra, then flew his stolen plane to Communist-held territory and a month later turned up in Peking. The Cambodian government claimed that Potra's mistress had been the daughter of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state.

The attack led to the imposition of martial law and the house arrest of several members of Siahanouk's family still living in Phnom Penh. They were released later this year.

Meanwhile, fierce fighting continued around several small government outposts on supply Highways 4 and 5, military sources reported.

Benedict Arnold charges from 1780 upheld by Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — After poring over time-yellowed records, an Army board has ruled solemnly that there isn't enough evidence to clear Gen. Benedict Arnold of Revolutionary War misconduct charges.

But Vincent A. Lindner, a Scotch Plains, N.J., history buff who reopened the 193-year-old case, says "public opinion is now in Arnold's corner" and he's going to appeal to Congress.

The Army's Board For Correction of Military Records did not look into treason accusations that have blackened Arnold's name throughout history.

What it did examine was Lindner's claim that Arnold should not have been convicted by a 1780 court-martial on two charges of misconduct, including "using public wagons to transport private property."

Lindner contends Arnold was a victim of "character assassination" by political enemies, that the prosecution never proved Arnold profited by his actions, and that the general was subjected to double jeopardy because a congressional committee previously had exonorated Arnold of the same charges.

Recently, about five months after agreeing to consider Lindner's formal appeal, the Army board notified him that "insufficient evidence has been presented to indicate probable material error or injustice" and that his application was denied.

Raymond J. Williams, the board's executive secretary, told a reporter "we tried to give the guy (Arnold) a fair shake. We spent a lot of time on the case."

Williams said, "We had extreme difficulty in locating the records of General Arnold's court martial."

"The records were hard to decipher," Williams said. "It was terrible."

Lindner had no complaint against Army board officials, calling them "fair minded men working within the framework of ... military law."

But he said in a letter to The Associated Press that "I have no intention of abandoning my appeal."

Nixon's troubles

the blueprint for Nixon's most ambitious effort yet to dispel the Watergate cloud that has enveloped him.

The President drew his biggest crowd, generously estimated at up to 20,000, upon arrival Sunday at Robins Air Force Base near Macon. After being presented with petitions of support bearing 37,000 signatures, Nixon made a stump speech that, in parts, was a carbon copy of some he delivered during the 1972 campaign that won him a landslide victory. For instance:

"Let me tell you that, because we have opened communication with countries that we completely disagree with in philosophy, the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union, I believe that we can build a peace that will last, not just 10 years, but will last for a generation and more ..."

For the President, the weekend's big event, however, was the Saturday appearance at the APME convention. There he declared to his TV-radio audience:

"I made my mistakes, but in all my years of public life, I have never profited from public service. I have earned every cent. And in all my years of public life, I have never obstructed justice ...

"People have got to know whether or not their president is a crook. Well, I am not a crook ..."

Giving his version of some of the most controversial Watergate-related matters, in response to questions from the assembled editors, Nixon acknowledged for the first time he paid nominal federal income taxes — apparently less than $1,670 — in 1970 and 1971. But he said his 1969 taxes were $79,000.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson advised him, said Nixon, to donate his vice presidential papers to the government and claim tax deductions for their appraised value, a practice formerly permitted but now barred. Nixon said he acted before the ban went into effect and "no question has been raised by the Internal Revenue about it ..."

Nixon said again, at the outset of the news conference, that he will not resign "as long as I am physically able to handle the position ..."

At the end the President urged the TV networks to let the broadcast continue past the scheduled hour — and it did — so he could answer suggestions he hiked milk price supports in return for campaign contributions.

Nixon argued that congressional Democrats were the driving force for higher milk supports and contended his administration was getting "a bad rap."

Discussing the absence of recordings for two Watergate-related conversations, Nixon said he was providing other tapes and documents "to provide the evidence that would have existed had we found the tapes."

Nixon acknowledged he once ordered Secret Service wiretapping and surveillance of his brother, Donald, and suggested without elaboration that foreign interests might have been trying to exert "improper influence" through Donald Nixon. He said his brother became aware of the surveillance and, upon being given an explanation, approved of it.

Thank you for your support in my bid for the Miami Trace Board of Education.

Stock list sags badly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned sharply lower today after a brief rally Friday as concern over the energy crisis continued to depress stock prices, analysts said.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, an indicator of market activity, fell 17.38 points to 873.95 at 11:30 a.m.

Other market indicators showed losses. The broad-based New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,500 common stocks lost .72 of a point at 54.76, as the price of an average share dropped 48 cents.

Analysts pinned the decline on investor reaction to declarations by Arab oil ministers over the weekend that they would continue the oil boycott to the United States.

Light rainfall was scattered from the eastern Great Lakes to New England and south along the Atlantic coastal states to Florida. Some heavier rainfall touched southern Florida, where West Palm Beach was dampened with 1 inch before midnight Sunday.

Some light drizzle wet the Tennessee Valley.

Sunday heavy snow reaching 14 inches blocked the western entrance to Yellowstone National Park and as much as 18 inches clogged the mountain highways of western Utah.

Earlier in the day, marblesize hail riddled areas near Cleveland, Miss.

Curb on troops commitment

The passage of the war powers bill over President Nixon's veto should not occasion any partisan gloating, but rather thanksgiving that Congress has at last acted to restore constitutional balance in this regard.

Mr. Nixon maintains that under this legislation "our potential adversaries may be encouraged to engage in future acts of international mischief." This possibility does not strike us as a danger comparable to that of having America committed to a war without the approval of Congress.

That greater danger, so keenly brought home to Americans by the war in Southeast Asia, is avertede by the war powers bill. It does not hamstring the executive branch in responding to emergencies abroad.

The President may commit troops at his own discretion when an emergency arises. What he may not do under this new law, is continue that commitment without the explicit concurrence of the House and Senate.

Such concurrence was not obtained during the years of our deepening involvement in Vietnam and its environs. The Tonkin Gulf resolution is often cited as evidence of congressional approval, but that interpretation distorts events.

Under both Johnson and Nixon, the commitment of U.S. armed forces was determined by presidential action without Congress ever having exercised anything like its constitutional power to declare war.

From now on the president will be obliged to consult with Congress and seek its approval before making any long-term commitment of U.S. forces in combat abroad. In the end, the general national interest will be much better served.

Licensing law for reporters?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — As has happened in other states, Alabama's legislators have been faced with insistent demands that they make public disclosure of their sources of income. After some temporizing, the lawmakers, prodded by a declaration by Gov. George Wallace that he favored an ethics law, finally passed a public-disclosure bill good for all elected officials.

But along with the bill went an amendment: Alabama's newsmen covering the State Capitol must also file statements of their own sources of income before they can get cards admitting them to press rooms, galleries or the floor of the legislature.

Gov. Wallace signed the bill into law, which he could hardly have refused to do without going back on his own declaration.

PASSAGE OF THE LAW is bound to be embarrassing to the newspaper business, particularly if the Alabama example spreads to other states or to the national capital in Washington. The amendment compelling financial disclosures on the part of reporters amounts to a licensing law, which could be — and certainly should be — interpreted as a violation of the First Amendment.

But if a big national newspaper chain or a public broadcasting company were to fight the law, it would be considered by Joe Blow in the street to be the equivalent of asking for special privilege.

The big newspapers in Alabama are lucky: a small-time publisher, Jesse Lewis, a 41-year-old black who owns the Birmingham Times, has filed a class-action suit requesting that the amendment affecting the financial resources of reporters be declared unconstitutional. A district court judge has asked that a three-judge panel be set up to listen to Lewis's complaints.

Lewis himself has obviously little to fear: he makes his real money by running a sideline recording business even doing musical arrangements of his own. Nobody is going to accuse him of fighting the legislature for his own self-interest.

Bigger publishers, however, might find themselves the butt of public sarcasm if they were to take the lead in combating Alabama's infringement of the First Amendment. It would be highly embarrassing if, for example, a newspaper were to discover through the operations of a disclosure law that its financial editor had been buying and selling stocks or zoned real estate on the basis of discussions with government officials.

To pick something wholly hypothetical, what if it were to be revealed that a reporter who had been writing Sunday features antipathetic to a strip-mine regulation law came from a family of coal mine owners and stood to benefit from a lax governmental attitude toward surface land reclamation? I am being fanciful, but Caesar's wife (in this instance the publisher) must be beyond the suspicion of reproach when it somes to hiring legislative correspondents.

IN TACKING ON the amendment affecting newspaper and radio-TV personnel, the Alabama legislators were patently slapping at reflections on their own integrity. The amendment could be classified as a bit of resentful black humor.

No one will be surprised to see the amendment overthrown in the courts. But the question is, what will then happen to the Alabama ethics law as a whole?

In Kentucky, when a similar law was passed, the local press association got a temporary injunction against the press-disclosure clause in the bill.

Publishers, with their interest in the First Amendment at stake, must fight legislatures that try to inflict any form of reportorial licensing on the press. Morally, however, the Alabama legislators have a point: the public has an interest in knowing something about the financial status of those who report the news.

Maybe disclosures of financial status should be voluntary. Under a voluntary disclosure system the reporter taking his stand on the First Amendment would be on a par with someone invoking the Fifth. He would be free to remain silent, but he would have to prove his integrity henceforward with every line he put on paper.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Father Dan declares war on Israel

On Oct. 19, in a speech to the Association of Arab University Graduates in Washington — which curiously enough received no press coverage — that gentle Christian, Daniel Berrigan, S.J., delivered himself of some of the most venomous remarks on Israel that I have seen outside of the Arab and anti-Semitic press.

There were two aspects of the speech: First, a savage condemnation of the leaders of the American Jewish community for abandoning the cause of North Vietnam in the interests of Israel. "To put the matter brutally," he said, "many American Jewish leaders were capable of ignoring the Asian holocaust in favor of economic and military aid to Israel. Those of us who resisted the war had to live with the fact. The fate of the Vietnamese was as unimportant to the Zionists in our midst as was the state of the Palestinians. But I venture to suggest that it is not merely we nor the Vietnamese who must live with that fact. So must Israel. So must the American Jews."

Berrigan, with sadistic irony, suggested that President Nixon — with the complicity of the "American Jews" — "had maimed, bombed, displaced, tortured, imprisoned, or killed" 6,000,000 Southeast Asians.

NOW I HAVE no intention of getting mixed up in a private feud between Berrigan and the "American Jews." I simply want to note that most Jews, like their fellow Americans of various religious persuasions, were not rooting for the Hanoi regime.

True, many Jewish intellectuals played a leading role in the anti-war movement, but it was their concentration in the areas of maximum media coverage, notably New York, not their numbers, that gave them whatever clout they possessed. Berrigan's figure of 6,000,000 is sheer nastiness.

I don't know what the accurate figure is, but the last time I looked over the statistics I discovered that we had allegedly killed, maimed, etc., something like twice the population of Indochina! Six million Jews were exterminated by Hitler.

What really disturbed me was the second aspect of the prophet's speech: His compassionate analysis of the origins and nature of the state of Israel. I hate extended quotes, but occasionally they are necessary. The dream of Israel, Berrigan noted with true Christian charity, "has become a nightmare. Israel has not abolished poverty and misery, rather she manufactures human waste, the by-products of her entrepreneurs, her military-industrial complex. . . she has expanded the prison system, perfected her espionage, exported on the world market that expensive blood-ridden commodity, the savage triumph of the technologized West: violence and the tools of violence. . . In Israel, the democratic formula is twisted out of all recognition; the citizens exist for the well-being of the state; it follows, as the imperialist corollary, that that measure of terrorism and violence and murder is applied to dissidents as shall guarantee the 'well-being of the state. . .' "

Elsewhere we sense the ancient image of the rapacious Jew:

"The coinage of Israel is stamped with the imperialist faces (the Roman symbol of authority used by Mussolini) whose favor she has courted; the creation of an elite of millionaires, generals and entrepreneurs." In short, Israel is "a criminal Jewish community" devoted to "crimes against humanity" and "racism" — derived from the Nazis — "aimed at proving its racial superiority to the people it has crushed."

MAY I SAY as one Irishman to another (with all respect for the cloth) that this is a crock, a "blithey" as they say in County Kerry. (A "blithey" may be politely defined as ten pounds of dung in a five-pound sack.)

Berrigan, for example, gets worked up over the problem of the Palestinian refugees — a legitimate concern — but where does he think the population of Israel came from? The death camps? The "six million," alas! did not survive to enjoy the Law of Return.

Most of the Jews is Israel were refugees from Arab states, where they had lived in virtual slavery for a millenium or more. "Millionaires"? They were lucky to escape with the shirts on their backs. Who puts this in the computer?

Even more fundamental is the premise that the Israelis have been sitting around, like Spartans, for the last 25 years conspiring to enslave their 70-odd million Arab neighbors. Like the South Vietnamese, all they want to be is left in peace.

Hanoi and the Arabs, both blessed by Father Berrigan and Moscow, have unfortunately made this impossible.

"THIS COULD BE THE DRIP HEARD AROUND THE WORLD."

Hal Boyle . . . Capsules from yesterday

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is time's best friend.

Steadfastly it stands by you for a lifetime, helping to alleviate the wounds of the past, helping to reconcile you to the wounds of today.

It does not desert you under pressure. It will not betray you to your foes. It is true to you as your own breath. Without memory neither you nor all your yesterdays would have any meaning.

But you've got enough memories for life to mean a lot to you if you can look back and remember when —

Only the secretary of the top boss in the office had an electric typewriter. It was her biggest sign of prestige.

Men's neckties were too thin to hide a ketchup spot on their shirtfront.

The average child could recite more Mother Goose rhymes than television commercials.

When they took up the Sunday collection in a rural church, the only sound heard was the clinking of coins never the rustle of folding money.

In the average home there was more dust on the dictionary than the family Bible.

When a city girl visited her country cousins they thought she was stuck up because she used dental floss instead of toothpicks.

One of the ordeals of childhood in winter was to have to take a shivery bath in a washtub on the kitchen floor every Saturday night — whether you felt like you needed a bath or not.

Everybody in the family liked to sop up the chuck steak gravy on his plate with bread even though mother insisted it wasn't genteel.

There were still more people in America who knew how to hitch up a horse and buggy than could drive an automobile.

It was cheaper to take a little girl to a public park because all she wanted was a gas-filled bright balloon. Little boys, on the other hand, insisted on having a skull cap with a propeller on it that whirled when they ran.

The farmer could complain with some justice that the government did something for everybody but him.

An ice cream cone cost a nickel — and was worth it. Ice cream itself came only in three flavors — chocolate, strawberry and vanilla.

You could look at a teen-ager and tell at first glance what sex it was.

Those were the days — remember?

About $2 billion is spent each year by federal, provincial and municipal governments on roads and highways in Canada.

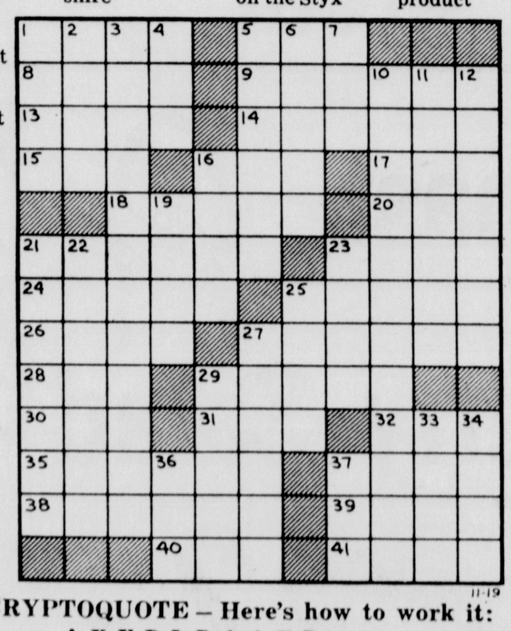
Saturday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Unsanitary kitchen has her leery of cooked gifts

DEAR ABBY: How does one discourage someone (a relative) from sending cookies, cakes, homemade preserves, and other goodies on any and all occasions? (Especially Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

This person is a dear and generous soul, but her kitchen is far from clean, she has a houseful of small dogs running around, and her place smells like a kennel.

I know she spends a lot of time and energy (not to mention the cost of the ingredients) on these things, and we just throw them out. I suppose it wouldn't kill us to eat these gifts, but I get a mental picture of that filthy kitchen and all those dogs licking the cookie dough off her fingers, and that does it. Any suggestions?

WEAK STOMACH IN W. VA.

DEAR WEAK: You could tell her you're counting your calories (isn't everybody?) and to please help you resist temptation by ceasing and desisting.

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of six adult children. When our youngest was a senior in college we moved to a retirement community, hoping to make a new life for ourselves. Our two youngest moved in with us temporarily, they said. That was two years ago, and they are still with us.

We couldn't afford a very large place, so we are very crowded. Not only that, but we still don't have the leisure life I had looked forward to.

Abby, how do you tell two grown children to get out on their own? I would like to set a specific date-like next Monday.

My husband doesn't have the courage to tell the boys to leave, but he feels the same as I. What 's the answer? How do other parents handle this delicate situation?

Perhaps I should mention that these boys are nonpaying guests.

GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Say, "John and Jim" (unless, of course, their names are Bob and Tom,) "it's time you left the nest, so spread your wings and take off."

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from "FRIGHTENED," who was upset because the oil man she invited in for coffee made a pass at her. You told her most men whose jobs took them into homes were straight, and didn't try that. Well, I used to think so, too, but not anymore.

When we were living in town I let a guy who was working on the house next door come in because he asked me for a glass of water. Well, the baby started crying and when I went into his room to check on him, this bum followed me and tried to get funny, but I got away from him. I called up the company he worked for and reported him.

Later we bought a mobile home and once when my husband was out of town I had sewage trouble so I asked the man we rented the space from if he would fix it. Well, he fixed it, and then tried to fix me, too, and I had another battle on my hands.

I am 24 and happily married, and I'd like to know why these creeps always pick on me? Or are all men sex maniacs?

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: Don't judge men by the two creeps who gave you a bad time. The lesson you learned, however, is one that all women should learn: Take no chances with strangers!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SO IN LOVE IN GAINESVILLE": Whether he is married or not is beside the point. He SAID he was, which means he wants to end the romantic involvement with you.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is; according to the stars.

TUESDAY, NOV. 20

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as suprising developments — and achievement — in recently stagnant areas.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react to opposition and unexpected obstacles will tell the tale.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Especially favored now: communications, travel, meetings of purpose. Earnings can be increased through any of these avenues.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

An auspicious day. Seek solutions to pending problems through conferences, consulting experts. Be concise and efficient without stepping on anyone's toes.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed; neither overanxious nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept.23)

Satisfactory gains indicated through carrying on with present operations but day will not be good for starting new ventures.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may now expect a "different" approach from others; also a real surprise. The manner in which you meet these will have great bearing on ultimate aims.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mars in somewhat adverse position. Shun contentious matters; unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

The position of Jupiter encourages well-organized moves, but you will need all your resourcefulness to straighten out a few kinks before "taking off."

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Curb a tendency toward inertia; lackadaisical action. Stress self-discipline. Current matters need further study. Some trends changing.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Be flexible; but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses or setbacks.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Get another's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely independent and determined individual; ambitious and willing to work hard to achieve worthwhile objectives. In occupational matters, you usually rebel at tedium and details but, once you develop system — which may require the help of others — you adapt admirably. You are a born leader but have a tendency to be ruthless at times. Curb this trait since, needlessly, it can bring you many enemies. You are highly versatile and could succeed in any of the following fields: the law, statesmanship, literature, interior decorating, fashion design or, in the business world, as head of a large corporation.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The last song Frank Sinatra sang in public before he "retired" in mid-1971 was "Angel Eyes." The last words of the tune are, "'scuse me, while I ... disappear."

He sang them softly, sadly, and then disappeared from show business. But Sunday night he came roaring out of retirement in a one-hour NBC special that bears repeating and soon for the unfortunates who missed it.

The chairman of the board is indeed back, and so is the superb phrasing, the taste, the sensitivity that have made him a favorite of not only the public but most musicians today.

Before canonization proceedings begin, it must be said there were a few spots — on ballads — where Sinatra's voice seemed slightly rough. And he was noticably flat, an uncommon occurence for him, on the top note of "Here's That Rainy Day."

These nits we've picked were buried by the sheer fun of watching the 55-year-old singer get back to work, backed by a fine, swinging band and good arrangements by Gordon Jenkins and Don Costa.

Sinatra, whose show was taped at Paramount Studios before a black-tie audience of friends, seemed exuberantly happy to be back at what he called "the same old stand."

And, after noting that his retirement "seemed like a good idea at the time," he promptly unretired, kicking off with a collection of his old hits, tunes like "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Street of Dreams" and "I Get a Kick Out of You."

His voice was sharp, crackling with excitement on the uptempo material and surprisingly strong for a guy who allegedly hadn't been singing much since the night he called it a day.

A wonderful touch on an already-excellent show was the guest appearance of Gene Kelly, who swapped quips with Sinatra about those old MGM musicals they once sang and danced in.

They eased into a special material bit about their hoofing days the theme was "We Can't Do That, Anymore" — and proceeded to prove otherwise with some great soft-shoe routines that belied the passage of nearly 30 years since their MGM labors.

If this is what age has done to them, particularly Kelly, I'll have a drink right now of whatever they've been drinking.

Locking gasoline caps sell quickly

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— "Lock your car and pocket the key" may become a slogan of the fuel shortage, too.

Locking gasoline caps and gasoline cans are selling like hot cakes in Cleveland, according to area suppliers, who note that gasoline siphon pump sales also are skyrocketing.

"We're practically sold out of all three items," one suburban discount store manager reported.

The Angus is also known as Aberdeen-Angus for the two Scottish counties it hailed from.

Country music contest ends with 23-year-old victor

BROWNVILLE, Neb. (AP) — They came from all over the Midwest—pickers, fiddlers, singers, strummers and combos—to the 13th Annual National Oldtime Fiddlers and Country Music Contest.

But when the last notes had drifted into the cottonwood trees, it was a 23-year-old banjo picker from Lincoln, Neb., who walked away with most of the prize money and the admiration of many oldtimers who have been playing country music for years.

Steve Hanson, who says its the "real challenge" of fivestring banjo picking that attracts him to it, won first place in the picking division. His sixmember band, The Bluegrass Crusade, won first in the combo division and topped a field of 76 musicians and six combos to take the overall prize.

"A lot of banjo playing is based on improvisation," says Hanson. "You have to use your head. If you're good enough you can invent new runs on the spot. It's like jazz in that respect."

One theory has the first banjo-like instruments coming to this country from Africa with the slaves. But those were generally the four-string variety and it wasn't until a fifth string was added in the middle 1800s that the banjo became what Hanson calls the only "true American instrument."

Most musicians take pride in their finely-crafted instruments, and Hanson is no exception.

His 1920 Vega "Whyte Laydie" is hand inlaid with engraved mother-of-pearl with a neck made of flame maple and intricately carved heel.

"It's one of the greatest frailing banjos in the world," Hanson said proudly.

Parrot taken from aviary

STONEHAM, Mass. (AP) — Stoneham Aviary officials say somebody apparently kidnaped an eight-inch-high, emerald green parrot this week.

Spokesman Pat Nolan said a thorough search of the freeflight aviary failed to reveal any trace of the male South Pacific eclectus parrot. And he said the aviary's female eclectus parrot was upset.

Nolan said the aviary, operated by the Boston Zoological Society in conjunction with the Boston Metropolitan District Commission, will take the parrot back "no questions asked.

"We don't want to prosecute anybody. We just want him back. And she wants him back."

Richard Kay goes after Senate seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former American Independent Party leader Richard B. Kay announced Sunday he will run for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Republican William B. Saxbe.

Kay told a Columbus news conference he will be an independent candidate in the 1974 race and hopes to be boosted into office by a backlash vote against the immorality of Washington.

"We must organize to wrest control of our government away from the two major political parties and to restore honesty, morality and integrity in our political system, Kay said.

He claimed the U.S. has a great political system but it has been "taken over by disciples of the devil."

In 1970, Kay was the AIP nominee for senator. Last year he ran for president under the party banner.

He served as counsel for Army Lt. William Calley, who was convicted of the My Lai massacre in Vietnam.

Kay said he has split with the AIP because it is now controlled by factions of the John Birch Society. While he said he admires many Birch members, he doesn't think they can run an effective campaign.

Since August, Kay said he has visited and talked with thousands of Ohioans in 77 counties.

Kay said voter disenchantment with the two major political parties will make it easier for an independent candidate to be elected.

Ohio fuel truckers back on job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major central Ohio fuel hauler resumed gasoline and fuel oil shipments at midnight Sunday following a strike settlement with some 180 Teamsters union members.

Victor Everett, president of Teamsters Local 413, said Ford Brothers Inc. would resume shipments after agreeing to rehire 180 fired drivers.

The dismissals took place Saturday, following settlement of a wildcat strike against four fuel hauling firms last week.

The company claimed the walkout was unauthorized and discharged the drivers who participated in it.

Meanwhile, two other fuel haulers hit by last week's strike worked over the weekend to make up time.

Madison commissioner seeks Hiestand's seat in Assembly

Lewis S. Overturf, Madison County commissioner, today announced his intention to be a candidate for election as representative to the Ohio General Assembly from the 77th District.

Overturf will be seeking the nomination on the Rupublican ticket in the 1974 May primary. The 77th District is now being represented by Joseph Hiestand of Hillsboro.

Overturf, a native of Madison County and now serving his second term as a commissioner, is a graduate of Ohio State University in agriculture. His business experience consists of serving as a farm consultant, owning and operating a farm equipment dealership, a farm owner-operator and serving as executive secretary for the Ohio Pork Producers Council.

Overturf, a veteran of World War II with three years in the Army, is also a member of the Masonic Lodge, the West Jefferson Community & Businessmen's Association, the Madison County Trustees & Clerks Association, the Farm Bureau and Grange. He also served as supervisor of the Madison Soil & Water Conservation District.

He and his wife, the former Ellenor Bricker of Mount Sterling, have a son, John, who is an engineer with the Continental Can Co. at Van Wert. The Overturfs attend the Methodist Church.

In making his announcement of candidacy, Overturf said: "I believe that local government is the most efficient, responsible and responsive government and that every effort should be made to protect and strengthen it."

"The person who is selected to represent the 77th District should know and understand all aspects of both local government and agriculture and should be an advocate for them in the General Assembly."

"All counties in this district are rural in nature, with comparatively small populations. These counties should never be permitted to become subservient to the larger metropolitan counties."

Mr. Overturf said he will be visiting all counties in the 77th District during the next few months and will be available to discuss all issues.

Energy slash to mean cuts in production

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A very serious situation but not a crisis. An inevitable economic slowdown, perhaps a recession, but not one of pronounced or prolonged impact. Instead, an effect more like that of a strike in a basic industry.

The personal consequences of the slowdown will be felt not only in some uncomfortably cool homes before the end of the year, but more seriously in the form of rising prices, factory shutdowns and layoffs.

While opinions vary, this appears to be close to a popular consensus among professional economists who spent the past week studying, in some cases frantically, the implications of the Arab oil boycott.

For some of them, the oil situation represented a brand-new dimension in economic forecasting in which they felt somewhat inadequate, forced to reach conclusions based on political assumptions.

Said Prof. Walter Heller, chief economic adviser in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations: "At the end of each day 50 per cent of what I know I learned that day."

Told of the remark, Alan Greenspan, economist with the consulting firm of TownsendGreenspan & Co., and a frequent adviser to President Nixon, commented: "He's in advance of most of us."

The assumption all economists agree upon is that a reduction in energy almost certainly means a reduction in production. As one put it, "An industrial economy simply replaces human muscle power with fuel power."

Based on studies for utility and other clients over the years, Pierre Rinfret, head of Rinfret-Boston Associates and another sometime adviser to Nixon, reached this conclusion:

"In order for the Gross National Product to grow 2.4 per cent we need a 2 per cent increase in energy. For every shortfall of 1 per cent in energy we'll have a 1.3 per cent shortfall in GNP.

"If we are short 2 per cent in energy in 1974 we would have zero growth."

Most economists agree that two factors can significantly change the impact:

1. The unwelcome effects might be appreciably reduced by the extent of voluntary cooperation and economies in nonessential areas.

2. The impact would be made more serious by a prolonged boycott, or one that extends well into spring.

Leif Olsen, vice president and economist of First National City Bank, for example, believes the slowdown could become a recession if the boycott extends beyond six months.

For the past year Otto Eckstein, head of Data Resources Inc., of Lexington, Mass., has been feeding data on the developing energy shortage into an intricate economic model of the economy.

Eckstein, economic adviser in the Johnson administration, numbers among his clients about 40 banks, 40 brokers, 150 corporations and the Energy Policy Committee itself. He has just completed his latest printouts.

"We had already forecast a soft landing for the economy," said Eckstein, referring to the descent from a three-year boom. That soft landing would have meant 2.5 per cent growth. Now he has lowered it to 1 per cent.

In other words, he continues to foresee growth, but of a lesser degree. And accompanying it he sees a sharp jump in prices. Instead of 6.2 per cent inflation he now foresees an annual rate of more than 7 per cent. More encouraging, according to Eckstein the rate should fall below as conditions improve during the year. But at the beginning of 1974 he sees prices jumping by as much as 8 or 9 per cent on an annual basis.

Consumer food costs $134 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new analysis shows that consumers are spending about $134 billion on U.S. farm-produced food this year, up $18 billion from 1972, and that higher prices paid farmers accounted for about two-thirds of the jump.

The analysis was included today in a report issued by the Agriculture Department on where food dollars wind up.

Despite the jump in "farm value" of food, middlemen continue to take the biggest bite for transportation, processing and selling charges. Those add up to $83 billion this year, the report said, an increase of eight per cent from 1972.

"The farm value of U.S. farm food products may total $51 billion this year, up about 30 per cent from 1972," the department said in a Marketing and Transportation Situation report.

"This would be the largest annual increase in the past 25 years," the report said. "An increase in the farm value of meat products, paralleling the sharp increases in livestock prices, accounts for a large part of the rise."

The $134 billion estimated on farm-food spending this year does not include imported or seafood products. When those are added, a spokesman said, the total U.S. food bill this year is expected to be $139.8 billion. Last year food expenditures totaled $125 billion for all categories.

2 Ohioans are victims of air crash

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—Federal Aviation Administration officials today began investigating the wreckage of a plane crash that killed two Ohio men near this Southern Kentucky city Sunday.

Two men were killed when their light plane crashed near the Bon Ayre community about six miles west of here in Barren County.

State Police said the victims were John Steele, 65, of Reading, owner of the Cessna 170, and Kenneth A. Porter, 35, of Cincinnati.

Authorities were attempting to determine which man was piloting the craft, which was registered in Cincinnati. Both men had pilots' licenses.

State Police said the plane apparently was bound for Cincinnati from Alabama.

The single-engine plane crashed in a field on a farm owned by J.R. Richardson off U.S. 68 on Kentucky 685.

A witness, Arnold Flowers, who lives near the site, said he heard a sputtering noise, came outdoors and saw an explosion.

Ohio Perspective

Retired judges still make cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's judges are forced into retirement when they reach age 70, but some go on working and earning substantial salaries.

The Ohio Supreme Court has a list of 41 judges who are eligible to sit by assignment, and uses them to help relieve crowded court dockets around the state.

In a recent 12-month period, 24 judges received a total of $219,782.50, an average of $9,157 each. When added to their pensions, this probably gave some who spent their careers in small counties as much or more income than they were receiving.

The 1968 Modern Courts Amendment set 70 as the mandatory retirement age for judges. However, the law allows them to serve by Supreme Court assignment if they retired voluntarily and did not enter law practice. They also may not serve if they retired involuntarily by being defeated at the polls.

Visiting judges are paid the per diem salary of the active judges on the same court. This is figured by dividing the annual salary of active judges by 360. The state compensates the visiting judges on a monthly basis, but the counties are assessed their share of the salaries on a yearly basis by the state auditor's office. The counties also have to pay the visiting judges' expenses.

Judges in the various counties are paid on the basis of population of their counties. A common pleas judge in Cuyahoga County, the state's most populous, earns about $26,000 a year — or about $72 per diem. A visiting judge in the court would get $72 a day.

State records showed that retired Ottawa County Common Pleas Judge Tom D. Stahl, 75, earned $1,328.80 for 15 days of work in the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court and five days in Ottawa County Common Pleas Court, the latter at $50 a day, during the month of June.

Retired Sandusky County Judge Robert J. Gabel, 75, Fremont, apparently has earned more than any of his peers since September 1971, based on Supreme Court records. His earnings since that time are listed at $9,847.01.

Judge Gabel's best month was August 1973 when he earned $1,172.32 for nine days in Wood County, two in Huron, three in Seneca, two in Putnam, and four in Sandusky County.

The retired judges also sit by assignment in state courts of appeals. They receive a flat $77 a day, regardless of the size of the county in which they work. The retirees don't have to always sit on the bench to hear cases, but are compensated as well for such other judicial duties as writing opinions.

Other arrests included bad checks 8 (3 in September); breaking and entering 6 (4 in September); grand larceny high, 9 (2 in September); petty larceny one (14 in September); and drugs one (13 in September).

The summary of accidents listed 59 total motor vehicle accidents as compared with 77 in September; 4 hit-and-runs (16 in September); $13,390.00 in property damage ($21,496.60 in September); 3 juvenile violations (traffic) (10 the previous month); 13 felonies (one in September); and $739.13 in value of stolen property recovered and $261 in property damaged by vandalism as compared with $211.95 and $504 respectively in September.

Erosion control being studied

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Members of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee of the Ohio General Assembly are to take a look at erosion along the Lake Erie shore in Lake and Cuyahoga counties Wednesday. State Rep. James Mueller of Chesterland said he thinks he knows "what the solutions are" to the erosion problem in his district.

"The purpose of the tour is to apprise other committee members of the problem and get them moving on positive legislative action."

High Court eyes desegregation plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider for a second time whether federal courts may reach into the suburbs to desegregate predominantly black inner-city schools.

The Supreme Court agreed to review a federal appeals court ruling that the only constitutional way to desegregate Detroit city schools was to include predominantly white suburban school systems in any desegregation plan.

The issue of crossing established school district and county lines in pursuit of school desegregation deadlocked the court 4-4 last term. No precedent is established by tie votes.

Impact of oil crisis assessed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Alton W. Whitehouse, president of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), says it is "getting clearer and clearer that the oil crisis has a significant impact on our entire economy."

Whitehouse said in a recent interview he doesn't think voluntary restraints will work and "the government has to decide what is best for the economy and for the entire country."

He said that in supporting a bill in Congress giving the administration power to ration fuels, Sohio emphasized the importance of protecting what he calls "the American Ruhr—Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh."

"I think this area should and will be taken into account in protecting the nation's economy," he said.

The Sohio president said part of the problem with oil has resulted from a switch by many companies from natural gas to oil for fuel.

"People have known for years that our natural gas supplies were even more limited than oil. But there has been created a false economic sense to use it up even faster."

He said oil industry executives have been warning the nation against dependence on imported oil products for more than 20 years.

"When we said it, we were criticized for seeking quotas on imported oil because people said our action was for selfish reasons. Our lack of credibility, not only on this, is just fantastic," he added.

Whitehouse said with the skyrocketing prices of crude oil from overseas "we have a whole new economic ballgame."

"The need for energy is so compelling that it is insensitive to price," he said.

Whitehouse said Sohio currently buys most of its foreign crude oil from Nigeria, Libya and Tunisia because those nations have "sweet" crude, which has a lower sulfur content than the "sour" crude does.

Sohio's major refineries at Lima and Toledo, Ohio and Marcus Hook, Pa., are designed to use the sweet crude.

"But prices for sweet crude have really skyrocketed because of the demand," Whitehouse said. "Posted sale prices are meaningless. It all depends on who is bidding for the oil, and how much they are willing to pay."

Frank E. Mosier, Sohio vice president of supply and distribution, said Nigerian sweet crude oil sold for $2.65 a barrel 15 months ago. Shipping costs raised the price to $3.90—the same price then charged for crude oil in Louisiana.

Last week, Nigerian oil had a posted price of $8.31 a barrel, Mosier said, and "oil was sold in Tunisia for $12.64 a barrel."

Sohio has started a $14 million conversion program at Toledo, and by July that plant is to have a capacity of 40,000 barrels of sour oil a day along with 80,000 barrels of sweet crude.

A $100 million expansion and renovation program at Marcus Hook will anable that plant to use 100 per cent sour crude. When the program is completed in 1975 the plant will have a capacity of 150,000 barrels a day compared with the present 105,000 barrel capacity.

Brown says oil company bids show 'market irregularities'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. Bill Brown wants the U.S. Justice Department to examine "market irregularities" by oil companies in governmental contracts.

An aide to Brown said information gathered by the state's anti-trust section will be sent to Washington for examination because almost all government contracts for oil have only one bidder.

The aide admitted that Brown has no firm evidence of price fixing, but said studies made indicate "irregularities from normal marketing patterns" in the bidding.

Brown's office conducted a survey of major cities, school districts, counties and mass transit systems and received 800 replies.

"What we have is plenty of irregularities from normal market patterns since you don't consistently get just one bidder on a public contract in a normal market," an investigator said.

An oil industry spokesman claimed Brown simply found oil companies can't compete for government conctracts during the fuel shortage.

The investigator said he found "virtually all contracts" surveyed had only one bidder and the price up as much as 25 per cent over last year.

Ohio Petroleum Council spokesman David Hyer said the survey shows only that there isn't as much oil available. He added, "The competition is not there because the product is not there."

Hyer said companies who might have bid on the contracts in the past just didn't want them this year.

Brown's aide said the attorney general didn't find enough evidence for any state action and has concluded Ohio doesn't have the resources to take on the major oil companies.

Small cars may flop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State government agencies may not take kindly to Gov. John J. Gilligan's order that they buy compact cars.

Edward Kienle of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services said past experience has shown state officials have passed over the smaller cars.

"We purchased some compacts back in 1961 and 1962 but everybody cried, so we never went back to them," he said.

Kienle added that last year the state took bids on Chevrolet Vega subcompacts and signed a group contract for the cars.

However, none of the agency purchasing agents put in orders for the Vegas. "So we dropped it this year," Kienle said.

PR plan brings suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A union has filed suit against Medical Mutual of Cleveland to bar the medical insurance organization from hiring a public relations firm.

Retail Store Employes Local 800 alleged in the suit that hiring a public relations firm for Medical Mutual, which operates the Blue Shield medical insurance program, is illegal and an "unwarranted expenditure of money that belongs to the members."

A hearing date was to be set in Common Pleas Court today.

A union lawyer said Medical Mutual has a vice president for public relations to do the work for which the public relations firm of William Silverman & Co. was hired.

Local 800 previously secured a temporary court order blocking Medical Mutual's plan to start a life insurance company.

Road, street jobs slated

A variety of jobs are scheduled for street and road crews this week before pausing for the Thanksgiving holiday Thursday.

Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, said county workers will be berming newly-resurfaced roads in Paint Township in addition to grading Cline Road. County crews will be spray-patching various roads and will finish mowing projects.

Workers at the Ohio Department of Transportation garage will be berming Ohio 734, east of Jeffersonville and will also be occupied with ditch work on U.S. 22-E, according to Superintendent Eugene Fitzpatric.

Fitzpatric said the state workmen will be running berm drags throughout the county and are hoping to start a berming project on Ohio 38 between Washington C.H. and Bloomingburg.

State crews will be cleaning rest areas along I-71 with disenfectant, and the trash crews will also be running. Three workers are still manning an electricade (flashing arrow) at the I-71-U.S. 35 interchange area where a crane collided with an overpass.

Fitzpatric said the state garage's snow and ice patrol will be checking roads and bridges when temperatures fall below the freezing mark. The snow and ice patrol operates from midnight until 8 a.m.

City street crews will be assisting with placing Christmas decorations in downtown Washington C.H. and will also continue with leaf pickups.

Delaware police sergeant wins award by NRA

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Delaware Police Sgt. Ronald Poulton has received two top awards in police combat shooting from the National Rifle Association.

The firearms instructor was awarded the Distinguished Police Pistol Award at the NRA national championships in Jackson, Miss. Only one other marksman has won the award.

Poulton is also a member of the newly organized 1480 Club, an exclusive NRA organization open to marksmen who accumulate 1,480 points in matches.

The Delaware policeman has also won three regional NRA championships.

Dolphins grasp playoffs again

Two Bills' rack up yardage, no points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mercury Morris smiled when somebody mentioned the fact that Miami's defending Super Bowl champions had clinched a National Football League playoff berth.

"What did you expect?" asked Morris. "That's what we're supposed to do."

Winning has become a way of life for the Dolphins. They are 9-1 this season following Sunday's methodical 17-0 victory over Buffalo, their second straight shutout. Over two seasons, their log reads 26-1.

Morris, who gained 79 yards against the Bills, looked at his 1973 championship ring. "This is what we're after again," he said. "Today was just phase one to getting another one of these."

There are other teams with Super Bowl ambitions too and Sunday was a good day for some of them but not so good for others. Washington maintained its piece of first place in the National Conference East, defeating stubborn Baltimore 22-14 while Dallas was pounding Philadelphia 31-10.

Kansas City took over first place in the American Conference West, ripping Houston 38-14 while Cleveland was knocking off Oakland 7-3 and dropping the Raiders into third place. Denver edged into second place just one-half game back, stunning Pittsburgh's AFC Central leaders 23-13.

Los Angeles protected its lead in the NFC West, beating San Francisco 31-13 to open a 1½-game margin over Atlanta which hosts unbeaten Minnesota tonight.

Elsewhere, New England slugged Green Bay 33-24, the New York Giants overtook St. Louis 24-13, Cincinnati topped the New York Jets 20-14, Detroit thumped Chicago 30-7 and San Diego took New Orleans 17-14.

Buffalo ran up some impressive individual statistics against Miami with O.J. Simpson rushing for 120 yards and Jim Braxton getting 119. But they pay off on points and the Bills went nowhere in that department against the Dolphins' defense.

Simpson shrugged off the yardage that pushed his 10-game total to 1,323 ... 540 yards shot of Jim Brown's all-time pro record with four games to go. "This was another game," said Simpson, "and what was important was that we lost it."

What was important to Kansas City's Chiefs was their victory over Houston and Cleveland's stunner over Oakland. The combination moved KC into first place in the AFC West and plummeted the Raiders to third.

Mike Livingston tossed two TD passes and scored another, piloting the Chiefs to a third straight victory since taking over for injured Len Dawson. Asked if the youngster might now be the Chiefs' No. 1 quarterback, Coach Hank Stram said: "Until Livingston proves otherwise, there's no question about it."

Chicago Bulls bop Pistons, win 104-102

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls have won 14 ballgames in 18 attempts this season and Coach Dick Motta thinks he knows why.

"Maybe we just have more desire than some of the other teams," said the fiery Motta. "We play very hard, we dive for loose balls, we just have more desire."

Motta's Bulls have won more than their share of squeakers this National Basketball Association season and they pulled another one out Sunday night, edging the improving Detroit Pistons 104-102. Veteran guard Norm Van Lier sank a 20-foot jump shot with just three seconds left to give Chicago its winning margin.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Buffalo Braves beat the Capital Bullets 112-101, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 102-100 and the Seattle Supersonics defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 95-91.

The Utah Stars shaded the San Antonio Spurs 83-80 in the only American Basketball Association contest played.

Chet Walker led the Bulls' attack with 28 points, Jerry Sloan had 24 and Bob Love added 21. Bob Lanier, whose two free throws with 20 seconds left gave Detroit its last lead of the night, topped the Pistons with 27 points.

The Bulls are off to a fast start but still trail Milwaukee, off to an even faster start, by one game in the Midwest Division. The Bucks are 15-3.

Bucks-Wolverines clash set up by duel victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now for the Big One. Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team, and fourth-ranked Michigan, will battle at Ann Arbor Saturday for the Big Ten championship, the Rose Bowl bid and a possible national title.

The two teams crossed their final bridges last Saturday. Ohio State drowned Iowa 55-13 and Michigan finally overwhelmed Purdue 34-9.

While Michigan has had a few struggles along the way, including only a 6-3 halftime lead over Purdue, Ohio State has breezed in every game.

Minnesota took advantage of Illinois fumbles for a 19-16 victory which all but gave the Gophers third place in the conference, Wisconsin also rallied for a 36-34 victory over Northwestern and Michigan State held on for a 10-9 victory over Indiana.

Gill Fash, a senior quarterback pressed into his first varsity performance because of injuries, hurled a 29-yard touchdown pass to Dale Henricksen to lead Minnesota to its fumbleback victory over Illinois.

The Illini fumbled twice in the closing minutes and Minnesota turned both into scores for its victory.

Gregg Bohlig hit on a short touchdown pass to Rodney Rhodes with 33 seconds left to give the Badgers a tough, come-from-behind triumph over Northwestern.

Indiana had a shot to win a conference game and failed. The Hoosiers, trailing 10-0, got a field goal and finally a touchdown after a recovered fumble.

Instead of kicking the extra point for a tie, Coach Lee Corso, had his Hoosiers go for two points and a victory. The pass failed and Indiana remains winless in the Big Ten.

All eyes will be on the featured Ohio State-Michigan game Saturday but the rest of the league must play out the schedule with Illinois at Northwestern, Purdue at Indiana, Michigan State at Iowa and Wisconsin at Minnesota.

Fullback Ed Zink top Dayton Flyer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fullback Ed Zink, the leading rusher for the Dayton Flyers, was selected Sunday night as the team's most valuable player.

Zink, a 6-foot 195-pound senior, received the honor at the team's football banquet.

Rhode Island Reds rip Springfield Kings, 5-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rhode Island Reds have a little breathing room in the North Division of the American Hockey League and the Cincinnati Swords picked up another point on their closest opponent in the South.

The Reds whipped the Springfield Kings 5-1 — thanks to three goals by rookie Pierre Laganiere — in one of four AH-L games Sunday night.

The Swords tied the Jacksonville Barons 5-5 Sunday after defeating the Baltimore Clippers 5-2 Saturday to stretch their first-place lead to seven points over the Hershey Bears.

Wittenberg clinches OC football crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We lost to a great football team. There's no question about Wittenberg's being the best in the conference."

That assessment came from Marietta coach Joe McDaniel, whose Pioneers had absorbed a stinging 35-7 lesson Saturday at the hands of the unbeaten Tigers.

The victory gave Wittenberg the Ohio Conference football crown and made them a leading candidate for the NCAA College Division 3 playoffs.

In the Big Ten, national powerhouse Ohio State proved the experts right, mauling winless Iowa 55-13. The oddsmakers had favored the No. 1 ranked Buckeyes by seven touchdowns.

The victory, Ohio State's ninth straight this season, set up a duel with Michigan for the Big Ten championship and an invitation to the Rose Bowl. The Wolverines, also unbeaten in the conference, play host to the Buckeyes next weekend.

The only Mid-American Conference game of the day saw Kent State trouncing Toledo 51-16 as tailback Larry Poole and flanker Gerald Tinker combined for five touchdowns. It was the final league game of the season for both teams. Kent finished second with a 4-1 record, while Toledo dropped into a tie with cellar-dweller Western Michigan at 1-4.

In other Ohio action, bowlbound Miami of Ohio stunned Cincinnati with Larry Harper's 95-yard return of the opening kickoff. Then the Redskin defense allowed the Bearcats over the 50-yard line only four times to hang on for a 6-0 victory.

Workhorse running back John Cappelletti gained more than 200 yards and scored four times in less than three quarters, as sixth-ranked Penn State stampeded Ohio University 49-10.

Junior running back Tim Barrett scored three touchdowns in helping John Carroll to the Presidents Athletic Conference title with a 30-7 victory over Case Western Reserve.

And Wilmington lost a chance for a share of second place in the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, when it dropped a 20-15 decision to Earlham.

In other college football action involving Buckeye teams, it was Carnegie-Mellon 14, Hiram 13; Bowling Green 21, Northern Illinois 20; Xavier 13, Villanova 6; Marshall 37, Dayton 14; Central State 26, Federal City, D.C. 7; Akron 42, Gustavus Adolphus, Minn. 7; Youngstown State 44, Indiana State, Pa. 0.

Barber wins World Open

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Miller Barber got the big check, but Ben Crenshaw got the big attention.

"I think I beat the next Jack Nicklaus," the 42-year-old Barber said after his final round 69 gave him a three-stroke victory over the youthful Crenshaw, probably the most exciting rookie to come along since Nicklaus turned pro.

Barber earned a $100,000 check — the biggest golf prize in history — after his 570 total won the 144-hole, two-week World Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

The total was two-over-par and represented the first overpar winning total in a year on the pro tour.

Crenshaw was within one stroke of the top spot until he tried to overpower a tee shot on the par-five 16th and hit it into the woods. He finished with a 71-573.

The gallery was with the strong, stocky, 21-year-old blond all the way. There was a gathering of only about 1,500 for the final round that was played in cool, breezy weather, but most were rooting for the young man who had won the San Antonio-Texas Open only two weeks before.

Cries of "go get 'em, Ben." and "Charge 'em, Longhorn," and "Best 'em Ben", echoed through the piney woods in this Carolina sandhill country. It was reminiscent of an Arnold Palmer gallery of past years.

Vikes, Falcons clash tonight

ATLANTA (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings, who already have clinched a division title, will be fighting to protect a 9-0 record in a televised game tonight with the Atlanta Falcons, whose rangy, strongarmed quarterback will be gunning to protect his own perfect record.

Falcon field general Bob Lee — a former backup quarterback in the Vikings camp — is undefeated since he took over the starting quarterback role for Atlanta from veteran Dick Shiner.

Lee has led the Falcons, now 6-3, to a five-game winning streak. Atlanta now trails the Los Angeles Rams by one game in the National Football Conference West Division title race. Minnesota has secured the NFC Central Division title.

"The game is naturally more important to Atlanta, which must keep winning if it is to get in the playoffs," said Viking Coach Bud Grant. "But on the other hand, we are 9-0 and we must recognize what the Atlanta game represents to us ... you learn more things when you win."

The American Broadcasting Company will televise the game beginning at 9 p.m. EST

National championship up for grabs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The holiday week is here and most of the bowl goodies have been dispensed, but the country's top college football teams will have no picnic with the showdowns for the national championship about to reach epic proportions.

For holiday openers Thursday, fifth-ranked Notre Dame entertains the Air Force, followed by the Southeastern Conference brouhaha at Baton Rouge, La., between second-ranked Alabama and Louisiana State, seventh in The Associated Press ratings.

On Friday, third-ranked Oklahoma hosts No. 10 Nebraska with a chance to nail down the Big Eight crown. On Saturday, top-rated Ohio State visits Michigan to settle the Big Ten title, followed by No. 8 UCLA against No. 9 Southern California in the Battle of Los Angeles for the Pacific-8 championship. The Big Ten and Pac-8 winners will meet in the Rose Bowl.

Those five games — involving nine of the nation's Top Ten teams — will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

Over the past weekend, Ohio State trounced winless Iowa 55-13 as Archie Griffin set school records by rushing for 246 yards and raising his season total to 1,265. Michigan kept pace with a 34-9 triumph over Purdue as Dennis Franklin scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

UCLA rushed for 447 yards and smashed its own Pac-8 one season record in walloping Oregon State 56-14 behind Kermit Johnson's three touchdowns. Artimus Parker intercepted three passes and Anthony Davis and Ray Rodriguez scored eight seconds apart as Southern Cal trimmed Washington 42-19.

It was bowl bid weekend and Alabama won its way to the Sugar Bowl by whipping Miami of Florida 43-13 as Gary Rutledge passed for two touchdowns and scored one. The Crimson Tide will meet Notre Dame, idle last Saturday.

The Orange Bowl lined up No. 6 Penn State, a 49-10 victor over Ohio University behind John Cappelletti's 204 yards and four touchdowns, and Louisiana State, which beat Mississippi State 26-7 as Brad Davis paced a potent ground attack and Juan Roca kicked a 52-yard field goal.

No. 10 Nebraska made it to the Cotton Bowl with a 50-21 rout of Kansas State as Tony Davis scored three times. The Cornhuskers will meet No. 11 Texas, which clinched its sixth straight Cotton Bowl trip and a tie for the Southwest Conference crown by crushing Texas Christian 52-7. Roosevelt Leaks gained 105 yards and set an SWC season mark of 1,328.

Meanwhile, third-ranked Oklahoma, ineligible for a bowl trip, knocked off No. 18 Kansas 48-20 with Joe Washington and Steve Davis providing the offense and the Selmon brothers' defense zeroing in on quarterback David Jaynes. The Jayhawks, though, got a bid from the Liberty Bowl to meet No. 20 North Carolina State, which downed Duke 21-3.

Twelfth-ranked Texas Tech crushed Baylor 55-24 as John Garner, Larry Isaac and James Mosley combined for 348 yards rushing and earned a trip to the Gator Bowl against No. 16 Tennessee, even though the Vols bowed to Mississippi 28-18.

Woody Green and Danny White paced No. 13 Arizona State to a 54-13 rout of winless Texas-El Paso, setting up next weekend's Western Athletic Conference showdown with No. 19 Arizona, which dropped a 27-26 nonleague decision to Air Force. The WAC champ will meet Pitt, which blanked winless Army 34-0 and clinched its first winning season in a decade and first bowl trip since 1956 as freshman sensation Tony Dorsett ran for 161 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Missouri, ranked 14th, stumbled to Iowa State 17-7 but was picked for the Sun Bowl against another loser, Auburn. The Auburn Tigers — that's Missouri's nickname, too — bowed to Georgia 28-14.

No. 15 Houston was idle but accepted a bid to the hometown Bluebonnet Bowl against Tulane, a 24-3 winner over Vanderbilt.

Miami of Ohio became the first team to complete a perfect regular season. The 17th-ranked Redskins shaded Cincinnati 6-0 on Larry Harper's 95-yard dash with the opening kickoff. They will play in the Tangerine Bowl against an opponent to be named.

Maryland got into the Peach Bowl with a 28-13 win over Clemson. The Terrapins' opponent will be Georgia if the Bulldogs defeat Georgia Tech on Dec. 1.

Defending champion Dartmouth shut out Cornell 17-0 and remained tied for the Ivy League lead with one game left. Harvard, the party of the second part, nipped Brown 35-32 with Jim Stoeckel completing 22 passes, 13 to Pat McInally, who scored twice.

Tulsa won the Missouri Valley title by defeating North Texas State 24-15. Jeb Blount survived five interceptions and passed for 218 yards and a touchdown.

San Diego State took the Pacific Coast Athletic Association lead over idle San Jose State with a 41-6 rout of Fresno State as Jesse Freitas, the nation's leading passer, completed 33 of 42 for 450 yards and four touchdowns.

Bengals edge N. Y. Jets; win 20-14

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The scoreboard read: Cincinnati 20, New York 14. But Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown saw it differently in the lockerroom.

"If some of you fellows see Wilbur (Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank), tell him I thought we were lucky," said Brown, referring to his former college teammate and coaching aide.

The Bengals had just survived the sensational last-bid heroics of still-healing Jets quarterback Joe Namath for a 20-14 National Football League victory Sunday.

"I'm glad we won," said Brown, "but you're suppose to feel good after you win."

Namath, pro football's premier passer, had overcome the rust of eight weeks of idleness from a separated shoulder to move the Jets 79 yards to Cincinnati's one with seconds remaining.

He had entered the game with 4:40 remaining when starting quarterback Al Woodall was dazed by a tackle. It was up to the tender-winged Namath.

"It was sudden death for us," said Ewbank. "We had to move the ball."

Set life suspension for any race fixing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Directors of the United States Trotting Association agreed Sunday that persons convicted of race fixing will be suspended from the sport for life.

The directors also said persons with knowledge of fixing who don't report it to judges will face a one-year suspension.

Columbus Owls whip Fort Wayne Komets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus Owl goalie Don Atchison stopped 47 shots and Norm Cherry logged three goals as Columbus thumped Fort Wayne 6-4 in International Hockey League action Sunday night.

Reaud Duguary got two goals for the Komets in their losing effort.

In other IHL games, Dayton clubbed Des Moines 7-1, Muskegon edged Flint 3-2 and Saginaw swatted Toledo 8-5.

$6,000 spent by city to quiet jackhammers

TORONTO (AP) — Toronto's works department is spending $60,000 for 10 quieter air compressors used by the city to power jackhammers and other construction equipment. The new compressors are 50 per cent more costly than less noisy ones.

D.J. Batty, the department's senior environmental engineer, said: "We can't put a ban on other people's noise without cleaning our own house first."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	2♦!	Dble	Pass
3 NT	Dble	Redble

This deal occurred in a rubber bridge game at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis. The story that goes with it is heartrending, if you consider the matter solely from the viewpoint of West, who was Al Sobel, for many years chief tournament director of the American Contract Bridge League.

South (Joe Cain) opened the bidding with a notrump and Sobel ventured the exotic overcall of two diamonds — which North doubled. It being luncthtime, Cain wanted to get the rubber over with as soon as possible and, accordingly, he went right to three notrump.

Having now caught the fly in the trap, Sobel doubled. North treated this as a personal insult and redoubled!

You may wonder why, under these circumstances, Sobel would have any cause for complaint. He had maneuvered the opponents to exactly the position he wanted them to be. But, unfortunately, while Sobel was licking his chops and before he had a chance to lead his fourth best heart, East led a club out of turn!

The irregularity occurred back in the days when one of declarer's options was the privilege of calling an opening lead.

So Cain cheerfully asked East to put the club back in his hand and requested West to lead a diamond. Sobel of course obeyed and the upshot was that Cain made five notrump, thanks to the lead out of turn.

This proved to be an enormous swing, since South would have gone down three — 1,600 points — with a heart lead, but instead scored 1,750 points for making three notrump redoubled with two overtricks.

Sobel was understandably unhappy over the outcome, but Cain very much enjoyed his lunch that day.

Flu Vaccine Is Not for Colds

Each year before the cold weather sets in the question arises as to whether or not all members of the family should be vaccinated against Asian flu.

Reports from various sources confirm or deny the possibility that an epidemic can be anticipated.

It must now be accepted that variations of Asian influenza will occur this winter in some form, mild or epidemic.

Although there is no present indication that any massive epidemic is expected, nevertheless, hospitals are telling their personnel that vaccine injections are valuable.

Public Health officials, too, are recommending vaccination in the elderly, especially those who are infirm and have a chronic debilitating disease.

The vaccine, made from many different viruses, is generally considered effective in reducing the severity of the flu, even in those cases where it does not definitely protect against it.

Since there are no unusual or dangerous reactions to the vaccine, there are no sensible reasons why patients should not take it when it is recommended by their doctor.

Too often people are confused by the fact that they can catch a cold even after they have had the flu vaccine. To them it may seem that the vaccine did not work, therefore was valueless.

It must be emphasized that the Asian flu vaccine offers protection only against the epidemic form of influenza, and not against the common cold.

The health bulletins being issued suggest that all those who plan to be vaccinated should do so some time in November so that the maximum benefit can be obtained.

The physicians's judgment about the value of the vaccine for younger age groups will, of course, determine the extent of the use of the vaccine.

Patients who have surgery of the gall bladder or on other abdominal organs often ask why the appendix is almost routinely removed, even when there have been no symptoms relative to it.

Many surgeons, when operating in the abdominal cavity, almost routinely remove the appendix as a good preventive procedure. This reduces the possibility of another operation should the appendix ever become inflamed or infected.

The procedure adds little or no risk to the original operation. It does not add to the convalescent period or to the post-operative discomfort.

Since the appendix is known to be of no importance in the functioning of the body, it will not be missed when removed.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH. . . A medical checkup before embarking on any strenuous exercise program is a good investment in health.

TO LO HO RE CA

A ceremonial for the To Lo Ho Re Ca Camp Fire group was held in the Wilson Elementary School this week. Girls carried lighted white candles as they formed the circle. Officers Tonya Burnett, president, lighted a red candle; Zina Tate, vice president, lighted the white one; and Rhonda Pressler, secretary, the red candle.

Awards of Ho-To-Se, Project Hand Clasp, three-year pins, certificates, Rank Beads, Trail Seekers and Wood Gatherer patches, Swim patch and new membership pins were presented to the 13 members by Mrs. Ralph Tate, Mrs. Ronald Dowler and Mrs. William Pressler.

Girls answered roll call with their Indian name or Kohla, and Indian word meaning 'friend.' Each member spoke about her favorite times in Camp Fire and also set a goal of accomplishment for the highest rank in Camp Fire. The ceremonial was closed by the girls singing Green Trees. All left the friendship circle with lighted candles.

Refreshments of brownies and punch were served by Jody Filmore and Sherry Dowler. Next weeks hostesses will be Joyce Brown and Melissa Leeth.

'73 tax duplicates now in preparation

Tax duplicates are now being prepared for 1973 and the first district tabulation was handed to the Fayette County treasurer's office Monday morning, according to Mrs. Mary Morris, county auditor.

Mrs. Morris said the preparation of the 1973 tax duplicates is well ahead of last year's schedule.

Tax valuation in Fayette County was increased $1,562,150 this year. The increase in valuation was due to new construction and change in use of land which includes new housing developments, Mrs. Morris said. Fayette County now has a total tax valuation of $107,863,485.

The county has received tentative approval on tax rates. Mrs. Morris said there will be a slight increase in some of the districts and some have been reduced. The city of Washington C.H. rates will remain exactly the same as a year ago.

The .20-mill general health levy, approved by voters at the Nov. 6 election, will apply to all taxing districts and the decrease in rate of .10-mill for the retirement of county hospital bonds will affect all taxing districts.

The reason the city of Washington C.H. did not reflect any increase, Mrs. Morris pointed out, was it was able to reduce the school bond retirement millage by .10-mill.

Harold Hise, county treasurer, is now preparing the tax bills.

WCH man held for burglary, theft of truck

WILMINGTON — A Washington C.H. man has been charged with breaking and entering in connection with a burglary at the Melvin Stone Co., Melvin, Friday night.

Clinton County Sheriff Donald L Osborn said Jerry L. Downard, 25, is lodged in Clinton County jail awaiting hearing in connection with the burglary in which $10,000 in Melvin Stone Co., checks were stolen. No bond or hearing date had been set.

The stolen checks were discovered in a wrecked pickup truck on Melvin Road, just off CCC-Highway-W, early Saturday. The 1970 model pickup truck had been stolen from the stone company and wrecked after being chased by Ohio Highway Patrol officers. Downard also has been charged with the theft of the truck, Sheriff Osborn said.

He was arrested Saturday by Clinton County sheriff's deputies in Washington C.H. They were assisted by members of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Taken in the theft and recovered along with the checks, were several blank checks and two check writers.

The Highway Patrol had attempted to stop Downard for insufficient taillights when he wrecked the pickup truck.

'Childhood education' clinic held

Of the 300-plus teachers at the Southwestern Ohio District conference on early childhood education Saturday at Miami University, 14 were from Miami Trace schools. They included Mrs. Nancy Harper, Mrs. Betty Hutchison, Miss Susan Geiszler, Miss Pat James, Miss Peggy Breakfield, Mrs. Susan Justesen, Mrs. Lavaughn McKee, Mrs. Helen Miller, Miss Anne King, Mrs. Joy Tudor, Mrs. Peggy Gass, Mrs. Stephanie Krupla, Mrs. Margaret Merritt and Mrs. June Slaughter, Miami Trace elementary school supervisor.

Present from Madison County were Mrs. Mary Agnes Emrick and Mrs. Elnora Armintrout, of Madison Plains High School, and Mrs. Susan Friend, Madison County elementary school supervisor.

Mrs. Slaughter and Miss King arranged for the luncheon table centerpieces, which featured table games and puzzles related to classroom learning.

Dr. Margaret Weiser, of the University of Iowa, was the principal speaker. Her theme was "Play Is Education." In a detailed explanation, Dr. Weiser showed how children playing with blocks develop the skills necessary for social, emotional, physical and intellectual learning.

Mrs. Slaughter and Miss King led those at their tables in a discussion in which all the skills mentioned by Dr. Weiser were identified when the children played with table games and puzzles. Dr. Weiser closed by saying "play begins with delight and ends with wisdom."

Small group sessions were led by members of the Miami University faculty. Dr. Eileen Tway led a discussion pertaining to "The Role of Children's Literature in Child Development." Dr. Tway, a native of Fayette County, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Tway, of New Martinsburg, and a graduate of Greenfield McClain High School.

On display were several tables of teacher-made aids. Those by Miami Trace teachers occupied the space of three tables.

Dog license fees remain unchanged

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday morning established the fee for dog licenses in the county this year.

The dog license fee is $4 and the kennel fee is $20. The fees are the same as last year. Licenses will go on sale Dec. 1 and the deadline is Jan. 20. Penalties will be $2. The penalty was raised $1 from last year.

The board has made arrangements through Associated Plumbers, here, to have the American Standard Plumbing Co. inspect all radiators and other heating elements in the Courthouse Wednesday to determine the feasibility of installing individual thermostats on each radiator in an effort to conserve fuel in light of the recent energy crisis.

In other matters, Reginald (Chink) Davis, county dog warden, submitted 47 reports for last week.

Commissioners held their semi-annual inspection of the Fayette County Children's Home at 11 a.m. Monday.

Injured hunter's eye may be saved

A Fayette County youth, whose right eye was penetrated by a pellet which ricocheted from a shot fired at a rabbit Friday afternoon, probably will not lose the sight of the eye, a Columbus specialist said after the pellet was removed. He said after the operation that he feels the eye "is going to be all right."

Alan Dale Knisley, 18, was hunting near his home when the unusual accident happened, sheriff's deputies said.

Drivers charged after crashes

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported three weekend accidents which involved cars leaving the road and hitting fences.

An 18 year-old Washington C.H. man failed to negotiate a sharp right curve while heading north on Washington-New Martinsburg Road at 10:55 p.m., Sunday.

Richard L. Rich, 930 Dayton Ave., went left of center and off the road and returning to the highway he lost control and went off the right side, striking a fence owned by Russell J. Grice of Route 1, officers said. His car was damaged slightly.

A Sabina man ran off Worthington Road while heading west at 4:30 a.m., Sunday hitting a fence and entering a wheat field owned by Hugh Wilson of 719 Fairway Dr.

The man, Terry Lee Briggs, 23, was charged by the Sheriff's Department for failure to drive on the right side of the road.

Sheriff's deputies also are investigating an accident in which a car owned by Chester R. Murnahan, Rt. 3, was driven off the right side of Prairie Road after it failed to negotiate a left curve.

The car struck a fence owned by Harold W. Streitenberger, Rt. 4, as it entered the east ditch and then returned to the road, running off the left side and hitting a fence owned by Nona F. Moore of 310 N. Fayette St.

The mishap occurred at 7:45 p.m. Saturday. Sheriff's deputies are seeking the driver.

A Rt. 4 woman failed to negotiate a right curve on Ohio Rt. 41 at 10:53 p.m., Saturday, entering a yard and hitting a tree owned by Mrs. Carroll Halliday.

The car driven by Sheree A. Halloway, 16, was damaged moderately from the accident, sheriffs officers said.

POLICE REPORTED an accident in which a car came out of an alley on to North Street, into the path of another at 11:15 a.m., Sunday.

A car driven by Vickie K. Coe, 21, of 636 High St., pulled in front of a car driven by Donald Turley, 24, of 503 Second St., police said.

She was charged by police with failure to yield.

A car ran into the corner of Stop-N-Go store at 19 Fayette Center, damaging the roof edge and spouting Sunday. John W. Bunch, 42, of 712 Columbus Avenue was the driver, police said.

A parking incident on S. Main Street at 9:27 a.m., Saturday involved Wardella E. Mount, 45, of 153 Carolyn Dr., whose car grazed the car next to her owned by Jack L. Elliot Rt. 1.

Slight damage was done to the Elliot vehicle, police reported.

A Washington C.H. man hit a parked car as he headed south on North Street at 8:17 a.m., Saturday. Police charged William R. Stevens, 22, of 209 E. Circle Ave. with reckless operation after he hit a parked car owned by Lloyd G. Short, Jackson. Moderate damage was done to both vehicles.

Auto strike accord set, official says

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. reached tentative agreement on a new contract today shortly before the old pact was to expire, union officials said.

Word of the settlement was relayed by UAW officials in Indianapolis, Ind., Lordstown, Ohio, and Pontiac and Flint, Mich.

There was no immediate announcement here from negotiators, who had continued contract talks through the night. Sources said final contract language was being worked out as the 10 a.m. deadline passed.

"Yes, there's been a settlement," said Dallas Sells, UAW regional director in Indianapolis. "We just got a call, but we don't have any details of the settlement."

The agreement would complete national bargaining with the three major automakers. Agreements were reached earlier with Chrysler and Ford.

Tony Zone, president of Local 1112 at the GM Vega plant in Lordstown, Ohio, said he received word of the settlement at 8:15 a.m. EST, less than two hours before the contract was to expire.

Negotiations continued through the night in an effort to reach agreement before 10 a.m., when a series of "mini-strikes" against individual GM plants was expected to begin.

No details of the reported settlement were available immediately. The UAW represents 415,000 GM workers.

A spokesman for the union at the Lordstown plant, one of those listed to be hit with a "ministrike," reported earlier that the local had been told to "hold tight" while talks continued here in the early morning hours.

The union has said there will be no national strike in the absence of an agreement, but a series of ministrikes at scattered GM plants.

The union has not revealed which other facilities might be struck.

House recess to delay final action

Energy bill approval nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate smarting from charges of inaction is nearing expected passage of emergency legislation that would give President Nixon most of the powers he says he needs to meet the energy crisis.

But the bill, which was scheduled for a final vote late this afternoon, could not become law until some time next week at the earliest, since it also must pass the House which does not return from Thanksgiving recess until Nov. 26.

In his Saturday news conference, President Nixon said Congress had not acted on energy proposals he had made as long as two years ago. Nixon said Congress had sent him only one of his seven pieces of priority energy legislation, the Alaska pipeline bill.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., reacted to the President's statement by saying flatly, "He is wrong." Appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," Mansfield accused the President of being long on rhetoric and proposals but short on specific legislative programs.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," said Nixon's statement was "very hard to understand." Proxmire said "the President simply hasn't grasped" the severity of the situation, which according to a Library of Congress study could result in fuel shortages of up to 35 per cent.

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, predicted that the crisis could lead to a zero growth rate for the nation next year and a 6 per cent drop in industrial production. Rockefeller, interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said the economists' best estimates is that the fuel shortages will result in a cut of $3 million a day in the economy's growth.

Mansfield and Proxmire also differed with the President on the need for gasoline rationing. Nixon said in his televised press conference he hoped to avoid rationing.

According to Mansfield, Nixon's reluctance to impose rationing is "just paving the way to a recession next year." Proxmire said, "I think gasoline rationing is essential, we have to have it no matter what happens, no matter how much relief we might even get from the end of the Arab boycott."

The measure before the Senate today would give the President the authority, but not require him, to order rationing of gasoline or any other scarce fuel.

The bill by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also would authorize such energy-saving steps as lowered thermostats, reduced speed limits and shorter school days. Another energy-conservation measure, which the President had not asked for, would cut the size of the federal government's limousine fleet.

A provision authored by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, would permit the burning of high-sulphur oil and coal by allowing violations of clean air standards.

The bill also seeks to make maximum use of available fuel supplies by giving the President power to order oil and gas burning power plants to convert to coal.

Two youths charged in vandalism spree; damage set at $2,000

Two Washington C.H. youths have been charged by police in connection with a nighttime foray of destruction which left behind damage estimated at nearly $2,000.

Police Chief Rodman Scott termed it "senseless vandalism".

Apprehended at 3:40 a.m. Sunday were Steven E. Beverly of 510 S. North St., and a 17-year-old companion who have been charged by police with one "suspicious person" count each; three counts of malicious destruction of property and one count of malicious destruction of a public facility (a felony).

After a barrage of calls concerning the vandalism, police were dispatched to the south side of the city,

Patrolman Larry Hott caught up with them in the 100 block of S. Main Street as they hid under cars.

Involved in the case are at least 18 incidents involving malicious destruction:

Forest Leach, 131 W. Oak St., reported a gas cap stolen from his car; Frank Boso, 549 W. Elm St., a pipe thrown through picture window; Arthur George, 1130 S. Hinde St., window broken in house; William R. Glover, 320 Oak St., gas caps stolen from his two cars, license plates bent, antennas torn off; his nephew, Timothy J. Glover, whose car was also parked in the driveway, reported a license plate torn off; Mrs. Eugene Ladrach, 619 Warren Ave., car antenna torn off; Tim Carson, 628 Warren Ave., car antenna torn off; a meter for a control traffic signal at the corner of Elm and High Streets smashed;

Kent Riggs, 211 Oak St., car battery smashed in street and license plate bent and twisted; Gladys Whitaker, 829 Comfort Lane, three separate thermopane windows broken out; Bobby Joe Gentry, 223 Oak St., gas cap stolen and gas tank filled with dirt and gravel; Ernie Herman, 502 Comfort Lane, sparkplug wires and hoses torn off car, and gas and radiator caps stolen; Richard Maughmer, 643 Warren Ave., gas cap stolen and license plate bent; Robert P. Harris, 652 Warren Ave., antenna torn off car, gas cap stolen, wiper blades bent; Maurice B. Hopkins, 660 Warren Ave., side mirror torn off car; Robert Ankrom, 613 Warren Ave., antenna torn off car; Phil Morrow, 644 Warren Ave., antenna torn off pick-up truck; David Bivens, 425 W. Oak St., windshield wipers bent.

Beverly is under $2,000 bond, set by acting Judge John P. Case, pending a hearing on the charge of damaging the traffic light power meter, a felony charge which carries a penalty of up to three years in prison.

The 17-year-old boy was to have a hearing in Juvenile Court Monday.

POLICE REPORTED a theft at the Col. Sanders restaurant, 501 S. Elm St., at 7:04 p.m., Sunday.

Two young boys entered the place

Area youth faces 9 forgery charges

Arraignment proceedings for a Washington C.H. area youth charged by city police on nine counts of check forgery were scheduled Monday afternoon in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Police Specialist Larry Walker said Merle Jones Jr., 18, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., is scheduled for arraignment today on nine charges.

Jones was arrested on one count of forgery Saturday, and Walker lodged the eight other charges against him Monday. Jones allegedly had forged counter checks with a fictitious name.

Greece sets up detention camps

ATHENS (AP) — Police and soldiers rounded up a number of construction workers and youths today and took them to a temporary detention camp set up in one of Athens' soccer stadiums.

Some construction workers took part in last week's student-led antigovernment demonstrations, and many stayed off their jobs today. A number of large construction sites in the city were operating with scores of workers missing.

Security police also were arresting leaders of construction unions, reportedly blaming them for their workers staying off the job.

Tanks and soldiers in full battle gear patrolled the main squares of Athens and a military helicopter circled overhead on the lookout for new antigovernment demonstrations.

Students heading for the university were stopped for identity checks. About 100 of them were taken to detention centers for questioning.

At a hastily called morning news conference, government spokesman Spyridon Zournatzis said that 866 workers and students, 150 of them women, were arrested during the street fighting Friday night. He said 662 have been released.

The government disclosed that nine were killed Friday night and four Saturday. The Athens medical examiner said six of the victims were bystanders, including a 22-year old Norwegian woman and a 5-year-old Greek boy.

Some stores were closed today and many construction workers were absent from their jobs, but the morning rush hour traffic was jammed as usual.

Curious office workers stopped briefly to gaze at the tanks stationed at central squares. Troops stood guard alongside police officers at main thoroughfares.

On Sunday, Zournatzis reiterated the position of Premier Spyros Markezinis, who has pledged free parliamentary elections in 1974.

"Our mission is to prepare the nation for elections as soon as possible after order is restored," Zournatis told newsmen.

Last-minute Chest appeal under way

The three-day blitz is on!

The 15 members of the Community Chest Board of Directors started out Monday morning to close by Thursday the gap in the campaign to raise $27,000—more if possible—to support the programs of 10 local organizations next year.

The gap is not a big one, since there was approximately $24,500 in the Chest when the blitz started.

Midway in the campaign, President Lee Lynch announced the board had set Nov. 15 as the tentative deadline for winding up the canvass. But later, when it became evident at a board meeting last week that the goal would not be reached in that time, the three-day blitz was planned.

Approximately 100 business places, industries and employe groups remain to be called on by the directors and a few volunteers. They will report to Chest headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce late Wednesday.

Jim Dunn, campaign secretary, said the canvass of both the city and rural (by mail) has been completed. However, he added, a few checks have been coming in from those missed by the compaigners.

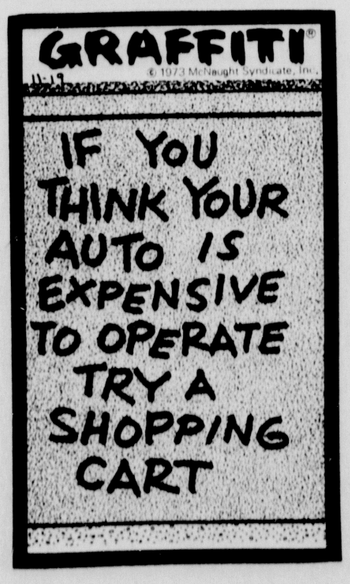
Hayes gets nomination for high federal post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Education Association has nominated former Ohio Education Association president Paul C. Hayes and one other educator for the highest education post in the federal government, the Ohio Education Association said today.

The association said Hayes, chairman of the Educational Administration Department at Akron University, and Mrs. Catharine Barrett, immediate past president of the NEA, were nominated as assistant secretary for education in the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department.



Cooling system plagues Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Space officials say that if a space station cooling system cannot be revitalized, the Skylab 3 astronauts' planned record flight might have to be cut short.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson brought from earth a repair kit to fill the leaky refrigeration loop with a fluid called Coolanol. They were to punch a hole in a service line this afternoon and attach a container of the fluid.

The space agency said Saturday night that Alan B. Shepard, chief of the astronaut office, had reprimanded commander Carr for an attempt by the spacemen to conceal that one of them had been sick.

Shepard told Carr his action was "a fairly serious error in judgment." Carr replied, "Okay, I agree with you. It was a dumb decision."

For the last two days, the astronauts have been activating Skylab systems and moving several hundred pounds of film, recording tape and tools from the Apollo ferry ship into the 118-foot-long station.

They also started medical experiments that will continue throughout their planned 84-day flight to assess the affect of long-term space travel.

The troublesome cooling system — for water, certain electronics and some food compartments — developed a slow leak while the Skylab 2 crewmen were aboard in August. They switched to a backup loop.

Mission control said that if the repair job is unsuccessful and the secondary loop fails, the mission might have to be cut short because some food would spoil and some electronics might fail.

The space agency also wants both loops in operation so the men can use water cooling instead of air cooling for their suits during space walks. Water cooling is more efficient and enables the astronauts to remain outside longer and work harder.

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said outdoor work scheduled for Thanksgiving day to repair a stuck antenna and change telescope film could be completed in one six-or seven-hour space walk with water cooling. He said air cooling would restrict outside activity to about four hours, and the repair job would have to be spread over two days.

Pogue suffered from motion sickness Friday, and mission control officials reported Saturday night that the crew had tried to keep secret his vomiting.

The control center learned of the vomiting when the astronauts accidentally left a tape recorder running during a discussion of the cover-up attempt. The recording was transmitted automatically to the control center.

4 youths slain in park

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Four teen-age youths have been found shot to death in a park near here. Authorities sealed off the area and said they would not comment on any motive in the slayings.

Preliminary police reports indicated the boys, between the ages of 14 and 17, were from South Dakota. But their names and hometowns were not made available.

Police sealed off the Gitchie Manitou Park in extreme northwestern Iowa about 10 miles from here after the bodies of the four youths were found Sunday.

Authorities said they found two of the bodies at what they believed to be the scene of the slayings. The other two had been dragged a short distance away, police said.

The Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the Lyon County Sheriff's Office have begun an investigation that includes a search for a dark blue van, believed to have belonged to one of the boys.

The bodies were taken to a Rock Rapids, Iowa, mortuary for identification and notification of next of kin.

Ben-Gurion critically ill; founder of modern Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, who led Israel from its violent birth in 1948 into modern statehood, was in critical condition today after suffering a stroke, hospital officials say.

A Tel Hashomer Hospital spokesman said that the 87-year-old former premier had been "calm and sleeping" since he entered the hospital Sunday after being stricken at his apartment here.

Ben-Gurion's personal physician, Dr. Boleslaw Goldman, said a blood clot on the right side of Ben-Gurion's brain had paralyzed the right side of his body.

Dr. Goldman said Ben-Gurion was conscious and "feeling better" after receiving treatment throughout the night.

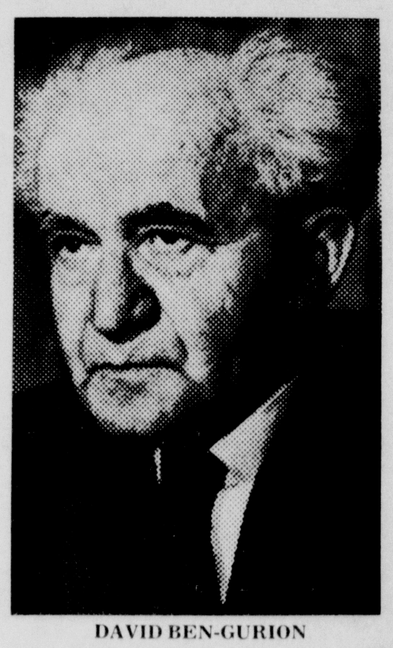
"We have hopes for his recovery, but they are guarded," he said.

Ben-Gurion resigned as premier in 1963. After several more stormy years in parliament, he retired from public life in 1970 to spend most of his time in quiet seclusion at his home in Sde Boqer, a kibbutz in the Negev.

He first arrived in Palestine, the land later to become Israel, as a 20-year-old immigrant from Poland in 1906. Working as a laborer at the Jewish settlements that were then springing up in Palestine, he became a leading figure among Palestinian Jews under Turkish and then British rule.

Expelled by the Turks in 1915, he went to the United States to raise money for the Zionist cause. There he met and married Paula Munwess, who died in 1968.

When the British finally left on May 14, 1948, Ben-Gurion declared Israel an independent state and led his people in the fierce fighting with the Arabs that followed.



DAVID BEN-GURION

As the nation's first premier and its dominant figure for 15 years, Ben-Gurion labored to transform the desert into farmland and to forge the strong modern state of Israel.

He said the nation would not really exist until it had fully developed the desert and had tripled its population. Then, peace with the Arabs would be possible, he said.

"How long will it take?" he said a year ago on his 86th birthday. "I cannot tell you. I believe it can be done in 10 or 15 years, but I am not certain."

Nixon broadens counterattack on Watergate

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's 1973 campaign to put Watergate behind him once and forever has begun in earnest with the embattled President embracing the role of underdog.

After holding an unorthodox live television-radio news conference Saturday in which he felt compelled to assure his fellow citizens that "I am not a crook," Nixon made a flying trip to politically friendly Georgia Sunday that had all the earmarks of a quest for votes.

Resorting to the sort of regional appeal beloved by politicians, Nixon paid tribute to the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League as "the comeback team of 1973" because it won five straight games after opening the season with one win and three losses. Perhaps, he mused to a Macon audience, he should talk to Falcon coach Norm Van Brocklin "and find out how they did it."

Although the Macon stop produced a sometimes-noisy demonstration by several hundred young people who chanted for resignation or impeachment, the large crowds of Georgians who turned out were generally friendly, if far less enthusiastic than most campaign gatherings.

After a week of private huddles in Washington with congressional Republicans and selected southern Democrats, Nixon has gone public with a Watergate counterattack that is expected to produce more public appearances, sessions with the news media and presidential statements.

Nixon's decision to go marching through Georgia, officially to honor the 90th birthday of retired Democratic Rep. Carl Vinson and the 100th anniversary of the Mercer University Law School, was made within recent days.

In similar fashion, the President gave little advance notice of his Saturday TV-radio appearance at the Disney World, Fla., convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Both stops, plus a Tuesday stopover at a Republican governors conference in Memphis en route back to Washington, were fitted quickly into

Governors eye stand on Watergate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Republican governors meeting here are wrestling with a variety of unofficial proposals to collectively speak out on Watergate and the head of their party, President Nixon.

Some kind of resolution on Nixon appeared certain to be offered during today's first business session of the Republican Governors Association's winter conference. Any action might await Nixon's planned visit to the convention on Tuesday.

The question was what kind of resolution could be approved. Suggestions ranged from staunch support for Nixon to a call for him to clear up the scandals for the sake of the rest of the party.

"We're human beings. We suffer through these things. But we're not going to be housemen to the White House and try to whitewash something that is one of the sorriest pages in American political history," Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said at a news conference Sunday.

"The President has got to earn his way back from the morass of misery he finds himself in," McCall said. "It seems to me the success of the Republican party in gubernatorial elections will be in direct proportion to the success of the President in restoring his own credibility.

"You still have to remember that the President is the titular head of the Republican party," he said. "And there is some imagery cast on Republicans everywhere."

Small arms fire along Suez Canal mars cease-fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Egyptian soldier was killed when Israeli and Egyptian soldiers exchanged small arms fire along the Suez Canal early today, the Israeli military command said. No Israeli casualties were reported.

A command spokesman said a fire fight erupted near Ismailia on the western bank of the canal and another near Ayun Musa in the Sinai Desert near the Gulf of Suez where he said Egyptian forces were trying to advance their positions. He said the Egyptian was killed near Mt. Ataka on the western side of the canal.

Israel had said that it will begin a judicial probe into charges of military mishandling during the first stage of the October war when Egyptian tanks and men stormed across the Suez Canal and captured the eastern bank.

The government announced Sunday that the investigation will be conducted by a five-member commission and the findings will later be made public unless they are ruled militarily sensitive.

At the same time, the Egyptian war minister, Lt. Gen. Ahmed Ismail, said that Egyptian military errors and misjudgments helped the Israelis establish a foothold on the Egyptian side of the canal during the final days of the war.

But he said the October war succeeded in breaking the Middle East stalemate and changed the image of Egypt and the Arabs as a whole. He said that Egypt militarily was in much better position on Oct. 22 — the date of the first U.N. cease-fire — than it was on Oct. 6 when the war began.

Egypt has charged that Israel violated the cease-fire on Oct. 22 and expanded its foothold on the western bank of the canal prior to a second ceasefire on Oct. 24. Military experts say that movement resulted in the isolation of the Egyptian 3rd Army on the eastern bank of the Suez Canal and of Suez city on the southern tip of the canal.

The announcement of the Israeli investigation came amid continued furor over initial setbacks the Israeli army suffered when war broke out with Egypt along the Suez Canal and with Syria in the Golan Heights on Oct. 6. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has said that Israel had no inkling of war until the morning the shooting began.

A cabinet statement said that the investigation will cover "the army's deployment for war in general, its preparedness in the days prior to the war and its actions until it held back the enemy."

Government sources said the inquiry most likely will seek to find out why Israeli intelligence did not forsee that war was imminent and whether Israel was quick enough after the initial outbreak in mobilizing its citizen army.

During the first hours of the war Egyptian tanks rumbled across bridges over the Suez Canal and captured a strip of land along the eastern bank, including Israel's highly touted Bar-Lev Line. In the Golan Heights, Syrian tanks initially overran numerous Israeli positions.

Lon Nol palace hit by bombs

PHNOM PENH (AP) — A Cambodian air force fighter bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound this afternoon with four 250-pound bombs, witnesses reported.

They said Lon Nol was unhurt, but three other Cambodians were reported killed and 10 wounded.

Antiaircraft gunners around the palace said the plane, a propeller-driven T28, approached the compound from the east and dropped two bombs at 4:30 p.m.

The pilot, Lt. Pech Lim Kuong, was on a mission to bomb on Phnom Penh's southern perimeter around the Highway 2 region, military sources said.

The lieutenant was reported to have told the air base control tower that he had some engine trouble and he could not continue his mission and that he was returning to base.

The control tower radioed it was okay for him to return.

He diverted on his way and headed toward Lon Nol's palace instead of landing as two other planes on the mission had done, military sources at Cambodian headquarters said.

The first bombs hit in a simultaneous explosion on a large conference hall inside the presidential compound. The next ones hit a minute later.

The last attempt on Lon Nol's life occurred last March 17 when a renegade Cambodian air force officer dropped two 500-pound bombs in the vicinity of the presidential palace and struck a barracks compound nearby. At least 36 persons were killed and dozens injured in the attack, but Lon Nol was not in the palace at the time.

The pilot, identified as Capt. So Potra, then flew his stolen plane to Communist-held territory and a month later turned up in Peking. The Cambodian government claimed that Potra's mistress had been the daughter of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian chief of state.

The attack led to the imposition of martial law and the house arrest of several members of Siahanouk's family still living in Phnom Penh. They were released later this year.

Meanwhile, fierce fighting continued around several small government outposts on supply Highways 4 and 5, military sources reported.

Benedict Arnold charges from 1780 upheld by Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — After poring over time-yellowed records, an Army board has ruled solemnly that there isn't enough evidence to clear Gen. Benedict Arnold of Revolutionary War misconduct charges.

But Vincent A. Lindner, a Scotch Plains, N.J., history buff who reopened the 193-year-old case, says "public opinion is now in Arnold's corner" and he's going to appeal to Congress.

The Army's Board For Correction of Military Records did not look into treason accusations that have blackened Arnold's name throughout history.

What it did examine was Lindner's claim that Arnold should not have been convicted by a 1780 court-martial on two charges of misconduct, including "using public wagons to transport private property."

Lindner contends Arnold was a victim of "character assassination" by political enemies, that the prosecution never proved Arnold profited by his actions, and that the general was subjected to double jeopardy because a congressional committee previously had exonorated Arnold of the same charges.

Recently, about five months after agreeing to consider Lindner's formal appeal, the Army board notified him that "insufficient evidence has been presented to indicate probable material error or injustice" and that his application was denied.

Raymond J. Williams, the board's executive secretary, told a reporter "we tried to give the guy (Arnold) a fair shake. We spent a lot of time on the case."

Williams said, "We had extreme difficulty in locating the records of General Arnold's court martial."

"The records were hard to decipher," Williams said. "It was terrible."

Lindner had no complaint against Army board officials, calling them "fair minded men working within the framework of ... military law."

But he said in a letter to The Associated Press that "I have no intention of abandoning my appeal."

the blueprint for Nixon's most ambitious effort yet to dispel the Watergate cloud that has enveloped him.

The President drew his biggest crowd, generously estimated at up to 20,000, upon arrival Sunday at Robins Air Force Base near Macon. After being presented with petitions of support bearing 37,000 signatures, Nixon made a stump speech that, in parts, was a carbon copy of some he delivered during the 1972 campaign that won him a landslide victory. For instance:

"Let me tell you that, because we have opened communication with countries that we completely disagree with in philosophy, the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union, I believe that we can build a peace that will last, not just 10 years, but will last for a generation and more ..."

For the President, the weekend's big event, however, was the Saturday appearance at the APME convention. There he declared to his TV-radio audience:

"I made my mistakes, but in all my years of public life, I have never profited from public service. I have earned every cent. And in all my years of public life, I have never obstructed justice ...

"People have got to know whether or not their president is a crook. Well, I am not a crook ..."

Giving his version of some of the most controversial Watergate-related matters, in response to questions from the assembled editors, Nixon acknowledged for the first time he paid nominal federal income taxes — apparently less than $1,670 — in 1970 and 1971. But he said his 1969 taxes were $79,000.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson advised him, said Nixon, to donate his vice presidential papers to the government and claim tax deductions for their appraised value, a practice formerly permitted but now barred. Nixon said he acted before the ban went into effect and "no question has been raised by the Internal Revenue about it ..."

Nixon said again, at the outset of the news conference, that he will not resign "as long as I am physically able to handle the position ..."

At the end the President urged the TV networks to let the broadcast continue past the scheduled hour — and it did — so he could answer suggestions he hiked milk price supports in return for campaign contributions.

Nixon argued that congressional Democrats were the driving force for higher milk supports and contended his administration was getting "a bad rap."

Discussing the absence of recordings for two Watergate-related conversations, Nixon said he was providing other tapes and documents "to provide the evidence that would have existed had we found the tapes."

Nixon acknowledged he once ordered Secret Service wiretapping and surveillance of his brother, Donald, and suggested without elaboration that foreign interests might have been trying to exert "improper influence" through Donald Nixon. He said his brother became aware of the surveillance and, upon being given an explanation, approved of it.

Stock list sags badly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned sharply lower today after a brief rally Friday as concern over the energy crisis continued to depress stock prices, analysts said.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, an indicator of market activity, fell 17.38 points to 873.95 at 11:30 a.m.

Other market indicators showed losses. The broad-based New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,500 common stocks lost .72 of a point at 54.76, as the price of an average share dropped 48 cents.

Analysts pinned the decline on investor reaction to declarations by Arab oil ministers over the weekend that they would continue the oil boycott to the United States.

Curb on troops commitment

The passage of the war powers bill over President Nixon's veto should not occasion any partisan gloating, but rather thanksgiving that Congress has at last acted to restore constitutional balance in this regard.

Mr. Nixon maintains that under this legislation "our potential adversaries may be encouraged to engage in future acts of international mischief." This possibility does not strike us as a danger comparable to that of having America committed to a war without the approval of Congress.

That greater danger, so keenly brought home to Americans by the war in Southeast Asia, is avertede by the war powers bill. It does not hamstring the executive branch in responding to emergencies abroad.

The President may commit troops at his own discretion when an emergency arises. What he may not do under this new law, is continue that commitment without the explicit concurrence of the House and Senate.

Such concurrence was not obtained during the years of our deepening involvement in Vietnam and its environs. The Tonkin Gulf resolution is often cited as evidence of congressional approval, but that interpretation distorts events.

Under both Johnson and Nixon, the commitment of U.S. armed forces was determined by presidential action without Congress ever having exercised anything like its constitutional power to declare war.

From now on the president will be obliged to consult with Congress and seek its approval before making any long-term commitment of U.S. forces in combat abroad. In the end, the general national interest will be much better served.

Licensing law for reporters?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — As has happened in other states, Alabama's legislators have been faced with insistent demands that they make public disclosure of their sources of income. After some temporizing, the lawmakers, prodded by a declaration by Gov. George Wallace that he favored an ethics law, finally passed a public-disclosure bill good for all elected officials.

But along with the bill went an amendment: Alabama's newsmen covering the State Capitol must also file statements of their own sources of income before they can get cards admitting them to press rooms, galleries or the floor of the legislature.

Gov. Wallace signed the bill into law, which he could hardly have refused to do without going back on his own declaration.

PASSAGE OF THE LAW is bound to be embarrassing to the newspaper business, particularly if the Alabama example spreads to other states or to the national capital in Washington. The amendment compelling financial disclosures on the part of reporters amounts to a licensing law, which could be — and certainly should be — interpreted as a violation of the First Amendment.

But if a big national newspaper chain or a public broadcasting company were to fight the law, it would be considered by Joe Blow in the street to be the equivalent of asking for special privilege.

The big newspapers in Alabama are lucky: a small-time publisher, Jesse Lewis, a 41-year-old black who owns the Birmingham Times, has filed a class-action suit requesting that the amendment affecting the financial resources of reporters be declared unconstitutional. A district court judge has asked that a three-judge panel be set up to listen to Lewis's complaints.

Lewis himself has obviously little to fear: he makes his real money by running a sideline recording business even doing musical arrangements of his own. Nobody is going to accuse him of fighting the legislature for his own self-interest.

Bigger publishers, however, might find themselves the butt of public sarcasm if they were to take the lead in combating Alabama's infringement of the First Amendment. It would be highly embarrassing if, for example, a newspaper were to discover through the operations of a disclosure law that its financial editor had been buying and selling stocks or zoned real estate on the basis of discussions with government officials.

To pick something wholly hypothetical, what if it were to be revealed that a reporter who had been writing Sunday features antipathetic to a strip-mine regulation law came from a family of coal mine owners and stood to benefit from a lax governmental attitude toward surface land reclamation? I am being fanciful, but Caesar's wife (in this instance the publisher) must be beyond the suspicion of reproach when it somes to hiring legislative correspondents.

IN TACKING ON the amendment affecting newspaper and radio-TV personnel, the Alabama legislators were patently slapping at reflections on their own integrity. The amendment could be classified as a bit of resentful black humor.

No one will be surprised to see the amendment overthrown in the courts. But the question is, what will then happen to the Alabama ethics law as a whole?

In Kentucky, when a similar law was passed, the local press association got a temporary injunction against the press-disclosure clause in the bill.

Publishers, with their interest in the First Amendment at stake, must fight legislatures that try to inflict any form of reportorial licensing on the press. Morally, however, the Alabama legislators have a point: the public has an interest in knowing something about the financial status of those who report the news.

Maybe disclosures of financial status should be voluntary. Under a voluntary disclosure system the reporter taking his stand on the First Amendment would be on a par with someone invoking the Fifth. He would be free to remain silent, but he would have to prove his integrity henceforward with every line he put on paper.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Father Dan declares war on Israel

On Oct. 19, in a speech to the Association of Arab University Graduates in Washington — which curiously enough received no press coverage — that gentle Christian, Daniel Berrigan, S.J., delivered himself of some of the most venomous remarks on Israel that I have seen outside of the Arab and anti-Semitic press.

There were two aspects of the speech: First, a savage condemnation of the leaders of the American Jewish community for abandoning the cause of North Vietnam in the interests of Israel. "To put the matter brutally," he said, "many American Jewish leaders were capable of ignoring the Asian holocaust in favor of economic and military aid to Israel. Those of us who resisted the war had to live with the fact. The fate of the Vietnamese was as unimportant to the Zionists in our midst as was the state of the Palestinians. But I venture to suggest that it is not merely we nor the Vietnamese who must live with that fact. So must Israel. So must the American Jews."

Berrigan, with sadistic irony, suggested that President Nixon — with the complicity of the "American Jews" — "had maimed, bombed, displaced, tortured, imprisoned, or killed" 6,000,000 Southeast Asians.

NOW I HAVE no intention of getting mixed up in a private feud between Berrigan and the "American Jews." I simply want to note that most Jews, like their fellow Americans of various religious persuasions, were not rooting for the Hanoi regime.

True, many Jewish intellectuals played a leading role in the anti-war movement, but it was their concentration in the areas of maximum media coverage, notably New York, not their numbers, that gave them whatever clout they possessed. Berrigan's figure of 6,000,000 is sheer nastiness.

I don't know what the accurate figure is, but the last time I looked over the statistics I discovered that we had allegedly killed, maimed, etc., something like twice the population of Indochina! Six million Jews were exterminated by Hitler.

What really disturbed me was the second aspect of the prophet's speech: His compassionate analysis of the origins and nature of the state of Israel. I hate extended quotes, but occasionally they are necessary. The dream of Israel, Berrigan noted with true Christian charity, "has become a nightmare. Israel has not abolished poverty and misery, rather she manufactures human waste, the by-products of her entrepreneurs, her military-industrial complex. . . she has expanded the prison system, perfected her espionage, exported on the world market that expensive blood-ridden commodity, the savage triumph of the technologized West: violence and the tools of violence. . . In Israel, the democratic formula is twisted out of all recognition; the citizens exist for the well-being of the state; it follows, as the imperialist corollary, that that measure of terrorism and violence and murder is applied to dissidents as shall guarantee the 'well-being of the state. . .'"

Elsewhere we sense the ancient image of the rapacious Jew:

"The coinage of Israel is stamped with the imperialist faces (the Roman symbol of authority used by Mussolini) whose favor she has courted; the creation of an elite of millionaires, generals and entrepreneurs." In short, Israel is "a criminal Jewish community" devoted to "crimes against humanity" and "racism" — derived from the Nazis — "aimed at proving its racial superiority to the people it has crushed."

MAY I SAY as one Irishman to another (with all respect for the cloth) that this is a crock, a "blithey" as they say in County Kerry. (A "blithey" may be politely defined as ten pounds of dung in a five-pound sack.)

Berrigan, for example, gets worked up over the problem of the Palestinian refugees — a legitimate concern — but where does he think the population of Israel came from? The death camps? The "six million," alas! did not survive to enjoy the Law of Return.

Most of the Jews is Israel were refugees from Arab states, where they had lived in virtual slavery for a millenium or more. "Millionaires"? They were lucky to escape with the shirts on their backs. Who puts this in the computer?

Even more fundamental is the premise that the Israelis have been sitting around, like Spartans, for the last 25 years conspiring to enslave their 70-odd million Arab neighbors. Like the South Vietnamese, all they want to be is left in peace.

Hanoi and the Arabs, both blessed by Father Berrigan and Moscow, have unfortunately made this impossible.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is time's best friend.

Steadfastly it stands by you for a lifetime, helping to alleviate the wounds of the past, helping to reconcile you to the wounds of today.

It does not desert you under pressure. It will not betray you to your foes. It is true to you as your own breath. Without memory neither you nor all your yesterdays would have any meaning.

But you've got enough memories for life to mean a lot to you if you can look back and remember when —

Only the secretary of the top boss in the office had an electric typewriter. It was her biggest sign of prestige.

Men's neckties were too thin to hide a ketchup spot on their shirtfront.

The average child could recite more Mother Goose rhymes than television commercials.

When they took up the Sunday collection in a rural church, the only sound heard was the clinking of coins never the rustle of folding money.

In the average home there was more dust on the dictionary than the family Bible.

When a city girl visited her country cousins they thought she was stuck up because she used dental floss instead of toothpicks.

One of the ordeals of childhood in winter was to have to take a shivery bath in a washtub on the kitchen floor every Saturday night — whether you felt like you needed a bath or not.

Everybody in the family liked to sop up the chuck steak gravy on his plate with bread even though mother insisted it wasn't genteel.

There were still more people in America who knew how to hitch up a horse and buggy than could drive an automobile.

It was cheaper to take a little girl to a public park because all she wanted was a gas-filled bright balloon. Little boys, on the other hand, insisted on having a skull cap with a propeller on it that whirled when they ran.

The farmer could complain with some justice that the government did something for everybody but him.

An ice cream cone cost a nickel — and was worth it. Ice cream itself came only in three flavors — chocolate, strawberry and vanilla.

You could look at a teen-ager and tell at first glance what sex it was.

Those were the days — remember?

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Unsanitary kitchen has her leery of cooked gifts

DEAR ABBY: How does one discourage someone (a relative) from sending cookies, cakes, homemade preserves, and other goodies on any and all occasions? (Especially Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

This person is a dear and generous soul, but her kitchen is far from clean, she has a houseful of small dogs running around, and her place smells like a kennel.

I know she spends a lot of time and energy (not to mention the cost of the ingredients) on these things, and we just throw them out. I suppose it wouldn't kill us to eat these gifts, but I get a mental picture of that filthy kitchen and all those dogs licking the cookie dough off her fingers, and that does it. Any suggestions?

WEAK STOMACH IN W. VA.

DEAR WEAK: You could tell her you're counting your calories (isn't everybody?) and to please help you resist temptation by ceasing and desisting.

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of six adult children. When our youngest was a senior in college we moved to a retirement community, hoping to make a new life for ourselves. Our two youngest moved in with us-temporarily, they said. That was two years ago, and they are still with us.

We couldn't afford a very large place, so we are very crowded. Not only that, but we still don't have the leisure life I had looked forward to.

Abby, how do you tell two grown children to get out on their own? I would like to set a specific date-like next Monday.

My husband doesn't have the courage to tell the boys to leave, but he feels the same as I. What 's the answer? How do other parents handle this delicate situation?

Perhaps I should mention that these boys are nonpaying guests.

GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Say, "John and Jim" (unless, of course, their names are Bob and Tom,) "it's time you left the nest, so spread your wings and take off."

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from "FRIGHTENED," who was upset because the oil man she invited in for coffee made a pass at her. You told her most men whose jobs took them into homes were straight, and didn't try that. Well, I used to think so, too, but not anymore.

When we were living in town I let a guy who was working on the house next door come in because he asked me for a glass of water. Well, the baby started crying and when I went into his room to check on him, this bum followed me and tried to get funny, but I got away from him. I called up the company he worked for and reported him.

Later we bought a mobile home and once when my husband was out of town I had sewage trouble so I asked the man we rented the space from if he would fix it. Well, he fixed it, and then tried to fix me, too, and I had another battle on my hands.

I am 24 and happily married, and I'd like to know why these creeps always pick on me? Or are all men sex maniacs?

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: Don't judge men by the two creeps who gave you a bad time. The lesson you learned, however, is one that all women should learn: Take no chances with strangers!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SO IN LOVE IN GAINESVILLE": Whether he is married or not is beside the point. He SAID he was, which means he wants to end the romantic involvement with you.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is; according to the stars.

TUESDAY, NOV. 20

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as suprising developments — and achievement — in recently stagnant areas.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react to opposition and unexpected obstacles will tell the tale.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Especially favored now: communications, travel, meetings of purpose. Earnings can be increased through any of these avenues.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

An auspicious day. Seek solutions to pending problems through conferences, consulting experts. Be concise and efficient without stepping on anyone's toes.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed; neither overanxious nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept.23)

Satisfactory gains indicated through carrying on with present operations but day will not be good for starting new ventures.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may now expect a "different" approach from others; also a real surprise. The manner in which you meet these will have great bearing on ultimate aims.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mars in somewhat adverse position. Shun contentious matters; unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

The position of Jupiter encourages well-organized moves, but you will need all your resourcefulness to straighten out a few kinks before "taking off."

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Curb a tendency toward inertia; lackadaisical action. Stress self-discipline. Current matters need further study. Some trends changing.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Be flexible; but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses or setbacks.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Get another's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely independent and determined individual; ambitious and willing to work hard to achieve worthwhile objectives. In occupational matters, you usually rebel at tedium and details but, once you develop system — which may require the help of others — you adapt admirably. You are a born leader but have a tendency to be ruthless at times. Curb this trait since, needlessly, it can bring you many enemies. You are highly versatile and could succeed in any of the following fields: the law, statesmanship, literature, interior decorating, fashion design or, in the business world, as head of a large corporation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The last song Frank Sinatra sang in public before he "retired" in mid-1971 was "Angel Eyes." The last words of the tune are, "'scuse me, while I ... disappear."

He sang them softly, sadly, and then disappeared from show business. But Sunday night he came roaring out of retirement in a one-hour NBC special that bears repeating and soon for the unfortunates who missed it.

The chairman of the board is indeed back, and so is the superb phrasing, the taste, the sensitivity that have made him a favorite of not only the public but most musicians today.

Before canonization proceedings begin, it must be said there were a few spots — on ballads — where Sinatra's voice seemed slightly rough. And he was noticably flat, an uncommon occurence for him, on the top note of "Here's That Rainy Day."

These nits we've picked were buried by the sheer fun of watching the 55-year-old singer get back to work, backed by a fine, swinging band and good arrangements by Gordon Jenkins and Don Costa.

Sinatra, whose show was taped at Paramount Studios before a black-tie audience of friends, seemed exuberantly happy to be back at what he called "the same old stand."

And, after noting that his retirement "seemed like a good idea at the time," he promptly unretired, kicking off with a collection of his old hits, tunes like "I've Got You Under My Skin," "Street of Dreams" and "I Get a Kick Out of You."

His voice was sharp, crackling with excitement on the uptempo material and surprisingly strong for a guy who allegedly hadn't been singing much since the night he called it a day.

A wonderful touch on an already-excellent show was the guest appearance of Gene Kelly, who swapped quips with Sinatra about those old MGM musicals they once sang and danced in.

They eased into a special material bit about their hoofing days the theme was "We Can't Do That, Anymore" — and proceeded to prove otherwise with some great soft-shoe routines that belied the passage of nearly 30 years since their MGM labors.

If this is what age has done to them, particularly Kelly, I'll have a drink right now of whatever they've been drinking.

Locking gasoline caps sell quickly

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— "Lock your car and pocket the key" may become a slogan of the fuel shortage, too.

Locking gasoline caps and gasoline cans are selling like hot cakes in Cleveland, according to area suppliers, who note that gasoline siphon pump sales also are skyrocketing.

"We're practically sold out of all three items," one suburban discount store manager reported.

The Angus is also known as Aberdeen-Angus for the two Scottish counties it hailed from.

Country music contest ends with 23-year-old victor

BROWNVILLE, Neb. (AP) — They came from all over the Midwest—pickers, fiddlers, singers, strummers and combos—to the 13th Annual National Oldtime Fiddlers and Country Music Contest.

But when the last notes had drifted into the cottonwood trees, it was a 23-year-old banjo picker from Lincoln, Neb., who walked away with most of the prize money and the admiration of many oldtimers who have been playing country music for years.

Steve Hanson, who says its the "real challenge" of fivestring banjo picking that attracts him to it, won first place in the picking division. His sixmember band, The Bluegrass Crusade, won first in the combo division and topped a field of 76 musicians and six combos to take the overall prize.

"A lot of banjo playing is based on improvisation," says Hanson. "You have to use your head. If you're good enough you can invent new runs on the spot. It's like jazz in that respect."

One theory has the first banjo-like instruments coming to this country from Africa with the slaves. But those were generally the four-string variety and it wasn't until a fifth string was added in the middle 1800s that the banjo became what Hanson calls the only "true American instrument."

Most musicians take pride in their finely-crafted instruments, and Hanson is no exception.

His 1920 Vega "Whyte Laydie" is hand inlaid with engraved mother-of-pearl with a neck made of flame maple and intricately carved heel.

"It's one of the greatest frailing banjos in the world," Hanson said proudly.

Parrot taken from aviary

STONEHAM, Mass. (AP) — Stoneham Aviary officials say somebody apparently kidnaped an eight-inch-high, emerald green parrot this week.

Spokesman Pat Nolan said a thorough search of the freeflight aviary failed to reveal any trace of the male South Pacific eclectus parrot. And he said the aviary's female eclectus parrot was upset.

Nolan said the aviary, operated by the Boston Zoological Society in conjunction with the Boston Metropolitan District Commission, will take the parrot back "no questions asked.

"We don't want to prosecute anybody. We just want him back. And she wants him back."

Richard Kay goes after Senate seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former American Independent Party leader Richard B. Kay announced Sunday he will run for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Republican William B. Saxbe.

Kay told a Columbus news conference he will be an independent candidate in the 1974 race and hopes to be boosted into office by a backlash vote against the immorality of Washington.

"We must organize to wrest control of our government away from the two major political parties and to restore honesty, morality and integrity in our political system, Kay said.

He claimed the U.S. has a great political system but it has been "taken over by disciples of the devil."

In 1970, Kay was the AIP nominee for senator. Last year he ran for president under the party banner.

He served as counsel for Army Lt. William Calley, who was convicted of the My Lai massacre in Vietnam.

Kay said he has split with the AIP because it is now controlled by factions of the John Birch Society. While he said he admires many Birch members, he doesn't think they can run an effective campaign.

Since August, Kay said he has visited and talked with thousands of Ohioans in 77 counties.

Kay said voter disenchantment with the two major political parties will make it easier for an independent candidate to be elected.

Ohio fuel truckers back on job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major central Ohio fuel hauler resumed gasoline and fuel oil shipments at midnight Sunday following a strike settlement with some 180 Teamsters union members.

Victor Everett, president of Teamsters Local 413, said Ford Brothers Inc. would resume shipments after agreeing to rehire 180 fired drivers.

The dismissals took place Saturday, following settlement of a wildcat strike against four fuel hauling firms last week.

The company claimed the walkout was unauthorized and discharged the drivers who participated in it.

Meanwhile, two other fuel haulers hit by last week's strike worked over the weekend to make up time.

Madison commissioner seeks Hiestand's seat in Assembly

Lewis S. Overturf, Madison County commissioner, today announced his intention to be a candidate for election as representative to the Ohio General Assembly from the 77th District.

Overturf will be seeking the nomination on the Rupublican ticket in the 1974 May primary. The 77th District is now being represented by Joseph Hiestand of Hillsboro.

Overturf, a native of Madison County and now serving his second term as a commissioner, is a graduate of Ohio State University in agriculture. His business experience consists of serving as a farm consultant, owning and operating a farm equipment dealership, a farm owner-operator and serving as executive secretary for the Ohio Pork Producers Council.

Overturf, a veteran of World War II with three years in the Army, is also a member of the Masonic Lodge, the West Jefferson Community & Businessmen's Association, the Madison County Trustees & Clerks Association, the Farm Bureau and Grange. He also served as supervisor of the Madison Soil & Water Conservation District.

He and his wife, the former Ellenor Bricker of Mount Sterling, have a son, John, who is an engineer with the Continental Can Co. at Van Wert. The Overturfs attend the Methodist Church.

In making his announcement of candidacy, Overturf said: "I believe that local government is the most efficient, responsible and responsive government and that every effort should be made to protect and strengthen it."

"The person who is selected to represent the 77th District should know and understand all aspects of both local government and agriculture and should be an advocate for them in the General Assembly."

"All counties in this district are rural in nature, with comparatively small populations. These counties should never be permitted to become subservient to the larger metropolitan counties."

Mr. Overturf said he will be visiting all counties in the 77th District during the next few months and will be available to discuss all issues.

Energy slash to mean cuts in production

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A very serious situation but not a crisis. An inevitable economic slowdown, perhaps a recession, but not one of pronounced or prolonged impact. Instead, an effect more like that of a strike in a basic industry.

The personal consequences of the slowdown will be felt not only in some uncomfortably cool homes before the end of the year, but more seriously in the form of rising prices, factory shutdowns and layoffs.

While opinions vary, this appears to be close to a popular consensus among professional economists who spent the past week studying, in some cases frantically, the implications of the Arab oil boycott.

For some of them, the oil situation represented a brand-new dimension in economic forecasting in which they felt somewhat inadequate, forced to reach conclusions based on political assumptions.

Said Prof. Walter Heller, chief economic adviser in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations: "At the end of each day 50 per cent of what I know I learned that day."

Told of the remark, Alan Greenspan, economist with the consulting firm of TownsendGreenspan & Co., and a frequent adviser to President Nixon, commented: "He's in advance of most of us."

The assumption all economists agree upon is that a reduction in energy almost certainly means a reduction in production. As one put it, "An industrial economy simply replaces human muscle power with fuel power."

Based on studies for utility and other clients over the years, Pierre Rinfret, head of Rinfret-Boston Associates and another sometime adviser to Nixon, reached this conclusion:

"In order for the Gross National Product to grow 2.4 per cent we need a 2 per cent increase in energy. For every shortfall of 1 per cent in energy we'll have a 1.3 per cent shortfall in GNP.

"If we are short 2 per cent in energy in 1974 we would have zero growth."

Most economists agree that two factors can significantly change the impact:

1. The unwelcome effects might be appreciably reduced by the extent of voluntary cooperation and economies in nonessential areas.

2. The impact would be made more serious by a prolonged boycott, or one that extends well into spring.

Leif Olsen, vice president and economist of First National City Bank, for example, believes the slowdown could become a recession if the boycott extends beyond six months.

For the past year Otto Eckstein, head of Data Resources Inc., of Lexington, Mass., has been feeding data on the developing energy shortage into an intricate economic model of the economy.

Eckstein, economic adviser in the Johnson administration, numbers among his clients about 40 banks, 40 brokers, 150 corporations and the Energy Policy Committee itself. He has just completed his latest printouts.

"We had already forecast a soft landing for the economy," said Eckstein, referring to the descent from a three-year boom. That soft landing would have meant 2.5 per cent growth. Now he has lowered it to 1 per cent.

In other words, he continues to foresee growth, but of a lesser degree. And accompanying it he sees a sharp jump in prices. Instead of 6.2 per cent inflation he now foresees an annual rate of more than 7 per cent. More encouraging, according to Eckstein the rate should fall below as conditions improve during the year. But at the beginning of 1974 he sees prices jumping by as much as 8 or 9 per cent on an annual basis.

Consumer food costs $134 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new analysis shows that consumers are spending about $134 billion on U.S. farm-produced food this year, up $18 billion from 1972, and that higher prices paid farmers accounted for about two-thirds of the jump.

The analysis was included today in a report issued by the Agriculture Department on where food dollars wind up.

Despite the jump in "farm value" of food, middlemen continue to take the biggest bite for transportation, processing and selling charges. Those add up to $83 billion this year, the report said, an increase of eight per cent from 1972.

"The farm value of U.S. farm food products may total $51 billion this year, up about 30 per cent from 1972," the department said in a Marketing and Transportation Situation report.

"This would be the largest annual increase in the past 25 years," the report said. "An increase in the farm value of meat products, paralleling the sharp increases in livestock prices, accounts for a large part of the rise."

The $134 billion estimated on farm-food spending this year does not include imported or seafood products. When those are added, a spokesman said, the total U.S. food bill this year is expected to be $139.8 billion. Last year food expenditures totaled $125 billion for all categories.

2 Ohioans are victims of air crash

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—Federal Aviation Administration officials today began investigating the wreckage of a plane crash that killed two Ohio men near this Southern Kentucky city Sunday.

Two men were killed when their light plane crashed near the Bon Ayre community about six miles west of here in Barren County.

State Police said the victims were John Steele, 65, of Reading, owner of the Cessna 170, and Kenneth A. Porter, 35, of Cincinnati.

Authorities were attempting to determine which man was piloting the craft, which was registered in Cincinnati. Both men had pilots' licenses.

State Police said the plane apparently was bound for Cincinnati from Alabama.

The single-engine plane crashed in a field on a farm owned by J.R. Richardson off U.S. 68 on Kentucky 685.

A witness, Arnold Flowers, who lives near the site, said he heard a sputtering noise, came outdoors and saw an explosion.

Ohio Perspective

Retired judges still make cash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's judges are forced into retirement when they reach age 70, but some go on working and earning substantial salaries.

The Ohio Supreme Court has a list of 41 judges who are eligible to sit by assignment, and uses them to help relieve crowded court dockets around the state.

In a recent 12-month period, 24 judges received a total of $219,782.50, an average of $9,157 each. When added to their pensions, this probably gave some who spent their careers in small counties as much or more income than they were receiving.

The 1968 Modern Courts Amendment set 70 as the mandatory retirement age for judges. However, the law allows them to serve by Supreme Court assignment if they retired voluntarily and did not enter law practice. They also may not serve if they retired involuntarily by being defeated at the polls.

Visiting judges are paid the per diem salary of the active judges on the same court. This is figured by dividing the annual salary of active judges by 360. The state compensates the visiting judges on a monthly basis, but the counties are assessed their share of the salaries on a yearly basis by the state auditor's office. The counties also have to pay the visiting judges' expenses.

Judges in the various counties are paid on the basis of population of their counties. A common pleas judge in Cuyahoga County, the state's most populous, earns about $26,000 a year — or about $72 per diem. A visiting judge in the court would get $72 a day.

State records showed that retired Ottawa County Common Pleas Judge Tom D. Stahl, 75, earned $1,328.80 for 15 days of work in the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court and five days in Ottawa County Common Pleas Court, the latter at $50 a day, during the month of June.

Retired Sandusky County Judge Robert J. Gabel, 75, Fremont, apparently has earned more than any of his peers since September 1971, based on Supreme Court records. His earnings since that time are listed at $9,847.01.

Judge Gabel's best month was August 1973 when he earned $1,172.32 for nine days in Wood County, two in Huron, three in Seneca, two in Putnam, and four in Sandusky County.

The retired judges also sit by assignment in state courts of appeals. They receive a flat $77 a day, regardless of the size of the county in which they work. The retirees don't have to always sit on the bench to hear cases, but are compensated as well for such other judicial duties as writing opinions.

Christian Science Thanksgiving Service Thursday

Thanksgiving services will be held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 504 E. Temple St., at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Testimonies of gratitude are featured at the public services which have been held annually for more than 70 years. No collection will be taken.

The service will be conducted by Mrs. Mildred Howell, first reader, and Robert Lewis, second reader.

Citations will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the passage, "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

The public is invited to join church members in observing the holiday.

Corsica's most vicious oppressor was the Republic of Genoa. From a foothold gained in the 12th century, Genoa ruled Corsica until the mid 18th century, with few interruptions.

City burglaries show decline during October

Burglaries declined in Washington C.H. during October, according to the monthly report released by Police Chief Rodman Scott.

Other arrests included bad checks 8 (3 in September); breaking and entering 6 (4 in September); grand larceny high, 9 (2 in September); petty larceny one (14 in September); and drugs one (13 in September).

The summary of accidents listed 59 total motor vehicle accidents as compared with 77 in September; 4 hit-and-runs (16 in September); $13,390.00 in property damage ($21,496.60 in September); 3 juvenile violations (traffic) (10 the previous month); 13 felonies (one in September); and $739.13 in value of stolen property recovered and $261 in property damaged by vandalism as compared with $211.95 and $504 respectively in September.

Erosion control being studied

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee of the Ohio General Assembly are to take a look at erosion along the Lake Erie shore in Lake and Cuyahoga counties Wednesday. State Rep. James Mueller of Chesterland said he thinks he knows "what the solutions are" to the erosion problem in his district.

"The purpose of the tour is to apprise other committee members of the problem and get them moving on positive legislative action."

Northern Ireland truce declared

BELFAST (AP) — A ceasefire declared by Northern Ireland's main Protestant guerrilla group went into effect today after an intensive bombing campaign in which Catholic buildings were blasted at the rate of two a day.

The last explosion came just before the Ulster Volunteer Force's truce took hold at midnight Sunday. Three persons, including a British army officer, were injured by a bomb planted in a car outside a shop in Belfast, authorities said.

SPACE DUMMY — A dummy, wearing the clothes of Skylab 3 pilot William Pogue stands at an exerciser in the space station. Three dummies were made by the Skylab 2 crew and placed around the orbiting laboratory to greet the new crew when they arrived. This photo was made by the Skylab 2 astronauts before they returned to earth, and was released when the Skylab 3 members found the dummies.

High Court eyes desegregation plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider for a second time whether federal courts may reach into the suburbs to desegregate predominantly black inner-city schools.

The Supreme Court agreed to review a federal appeals court ruling that the only constitutional way to desegregate Detroit city schools was to include predominantly white suburban school systems in any desegregation plan.

The issue of crossing established school district and county lines in pursuit of school desegregation deadlocked the court 4-4 last term. No precedent is established by tie votes.

The body of Dr. Edward L.B. Terrace, 37, bore mutiple stab wounds of the neck, chest and abdomen, and was covered by a rug when found by his cook, police said.

He was apparently killed Tuesday night. Terrace lived alone in the apartment overlooking the Nile. Friends said two cameras and money were found missing.

Impact of oil crisis assessed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Alton W. Whitehouse, president of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), says it is "getting clearer and clearer that the oil crisis has a significant impact on our entire economy."

Whitehouse said in a recent interview he doesn't think voluntary restraints will work and "the government has to decide what is best for the economy and for the entire country."

He said that in supporting a bill in Congress giving the administration power to ration fuels, Sohio emphasized the importance of protecting what he calls "the American Ruhr—Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh."

"I think this area should and will be taken into account in protecting the nation's economy," he said.

The Sohio president said part of the problem with oil has resulted from a switch by many companies from natural gas to oil for fuel.

"People have known for years that our natural gas supplies were even more limited than oil. But there has been created a false economic sense to use it up even faster."

He said oil industry executives have been warning the nation against dependence on imported oil products for more than 20 years.

"When we said it, we were criticized for seeking quotas on imported oil because people said our action was for selfish reasons. Our lack of credibility, not only on this, is just fantastic," he added.

Whitehouse said with the sky-rocketing prices of crude oil from overseas "we have a whole new economic ballgame."

"The need for energy is so compelling that it is insensitive to price," he said.

Whitehouse said Sohio currently buys most of its foreign crude oil from Nigeria, Libya and Tunisia because those nations have "sweet" crude, which has a lower sulfur content than the "sour" crude does.

Sohio's major refineries at Lima and Toledo, Ohio and Marcus Hook, Pa., are designed to use the sweet crude.

"But prices for sweet crude have really skyrocketed because of the demand," Whitehouse said. "Posted sale prices are meaningless. It all depends on who is bidding for the oil, and how much they are willing to pay."

Frank E. Mosier, Sohio vice president of supply and distribution, said Nigerian sweet crude oil sold for $2.65 a barrel 15 months ago. Shipping costs raised the price to $3.90—the same price then charged for crude oil in Louisiana.

Last week, Nigerian oil had a posted price of $8.31 a barrel, Mosier said, and "oil was sold in Tunisia for $12.64 a barrel."

Sohio has started a $14 million conversion program at Toledo, and by July that plant is to have a capacity of 40,000 barrels of sour oil a day along with 80,000 barrels of sweet crude.

A $100 million expansion and renovation program at Marcus Hook will anable that plant to use 100 per cent sour crude. When the program is completed in 1975 the plant will have a capacity of 150,000 barrels a day compared with the present 105,000 barrel capacity.

Brown says oil company bids show 'market irregularities'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. Bill Brown wants the U.S. Justice Department to examine "market irregularities" by oil companies in governmental contracts.

An aide to Brown said information gathered by the state's anti-trust section will be sent to Washington for examination because almost all government contracts for oil have only one bidder.

The aide admitted that Brown has no firm evidence of price fixing, but said studies made indicate "irregularities from normal marketing patterns" in the bidding.

Brown's office conducted a survey of major cities, school districts, counties and mass transit systems and received 800 replies.

"What we have is plenty of irregularities from normal market patterns since you don't consistently get just one bidder on a public contract in a normal market," an investigator said.

An oil industry spokesman claimed Brown simply found oil companies can't compete for government conctracts during the fuel shortage.

The investigator said he found "virtually all contracts" surveyed had only one bidder and the price up as much as 25 per cent over last year.

Ohio Petroleum Council spokesman David Hyer said the survey shows only that there isn't as much oil available. He added, "The competition is not there because the product is not there."

Hyer said companies who might have bid on the contracts in the past just didn't want them this year.

Brown's aide said the attorney general didn't find enough evidence for any state action and has concluded Ohio doesn't have the resources to take on the major oil companies.

Small cars may flop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State government agencies may not take kindly to Gov. John J. Gilligan's order that they buy compact cars.

Edward Kienle of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services said past experience has shown state officials have passed over the smaller cars.

"We purchased some compacts back in 1961 and 1962 but everybody cried, so we never went back to them," he said.

Kienle added that last year the state took bids on Chevrolet Vega subcompacts and signed a group contract for the cars.

However, none of the agency purchasing agents put in orders for the Vegas. "So we dropped it this year," Kienle said.

PR plan brings suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A union has filed suit against Medical Mutual of Cleveland to bar the medical insurance organization from hiring a public relations firm.

Retail Store Employes Local 800 alleged in the suit that hiring a public relations firm for Medical Mutual, which operates the Blue Shield medical insurance program, is illegal and an "unwarranted expenditure of money that belongs to the members."

A hearing date was to be set in Common Pleas Court today.

A union lawyer said Medical Mutual has a vice president for public relations to do the work for which the public relations firm of William Silverman & Co. was hired.

Local 800 previously secured a temporary court order blocking Medical Mutual's plan to start a life insurance company.

Road, street jobs slated

A variety of jobs are scheduled for street and road crews this week before pausing for the Thanksgiving holiday Thursday.

Charles P. Wagner, Fayette County engineer, said county workers will be berming newly-resurfaced roads in Paint Township in addition to grading Cline Road. County crews will be spray-patching various roads and will finish mowing projects.

Workers at the Ohio Department of Transportation garage will be berming Ohio 734, east of Jeffersonville and will also be occupied with ditch work on U.S. 22-E, according to Superintendent Eugene Fitzpatric.

Fitzpatric said the state workmen will be running berm drags throughout the county and are hoping to start a berming project on Ohio 38 between Washington C.H. and Bloomingburg.

State crews will be cleaning rest areas along I-71 with disenfectant, and the trash crews will also be running. Three workers are still manning an electricade (flashing arrow) at the I-71-U.S. 35 interchange area where a crane collided with an overpass.

Fitzpatric said the state garage's snow and ice patrol will be checking roads and bridges when temperatures fall below the freezing mark. The snow and ice patrol operates from midnight until 8 a.m.

City street crews will be assisting with placing Christmas decorations in downtown Washington C.H. and will also continue with leaf pickups.

Dolphins grasp playoffs again

Two Bills' rack up yardage, no points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mercury Morris smiled when somebody mentioned the fact that Miami's defending Super Bowl champions had clinched a National Football League playoff berth.

"What did you expect?" asked Morris. "That's what we're supposed to do."

Winning has become a way of life for the Dolphins. They are 9-1 this season following Sunday's methodical 17-0 victory over Buffalo, their second straight shutout. Over two seasons, their log reads 26-1.

Morris, who gained 79 yards against the Bills, looked at his 1973 championship ring. "This is what we're after again," he said. "Today was just phase one to getting another one of these."

There are other teams with Super Bowl ambitions too and Sunday was a good day for some of them but not so good for others. Washington maintained its piece of first place in the National Conference East, defeating stubborn Baltimore 22-14 while Dallas was pounding Philadelphia 31-10.

Kansas City took over first place in the American Conference West, ripping Houston 38-14 while Cleveland was knocking off Oakland 7-3 and dropping the Raiders into third place. Denver edged into second place just one-half game back, stunning Pittsburgh's AFC Central leaders 23-13.

Los Angeles protected its lead in the NFC West, beating San Francisco 31-13 to open a 1½-game margin over Atlanta which hosts unbeaten Minnesota tonight.

Elsewhere, New England slugged Green Bay 33-24, the New York Giants overtook St. Louis 24-13, Cincinnati topped the New York Jets 20-14, Detroit thumped Chicago 30-7 and San Diego took New Orleans 17-14.

Buffalo ran up some impressive individual statistics against Miami with O.J. Simpson rushing for 120 yards and Jim Braxton getting 119. But they pay off on points and the Bills went nowhere in that department against the Dolphins' defense.

Simpson shrugged off the yardage that pushed his 10-game total to 1,323 ... 540 yards shot of Jim Brown's all-time pro record with four games to go. "This was another game," said Simpson, "and what was important was that we lost it."

What was important to Kansas City's Chiefs was their victory over Houston and Cleveland's stunner over Oakland. The combination moved KC into first place in the AFC West and plummeted the Raiders to third.

Mike Livingston tossed two TD passes and scored another, piloting the Chiefs to a third straight victory since taking over for injured Len Dawson. Asked if the youngster might now be the Chiefs' No. 1 quarterback, Coach Hank Stram said: "Until Livingston proves otherwise, there's no question about it."

HIGH STEPPING — Ohio State fullback Bruce Elia (36) steps high as he goes into the endzone through Iowa defenders Jim Caldwell (21), Earl Douthitt (43) and Dan LaFleur (53) in Columbus, Ohio. Ohio State won 55-13.

Chicago Bulls bop Pistons, win 104-102

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls have won 14 ballgames in 18 attempts this season and Coach Dick Motta thinks he knows why.

"Maybe we just have more desire than some of the other teams," said the fiery Motta. "We play very hard, we dive for loose balls, we just have more desire."

Motta's Bulls have won more than their share of squeakers this National Basketball Association season and they pulled another one out Sunday night, edging the improving Detroit Pistons 104-102. Veteran guard Norm Van Lier sank a 20-foot jump shot with just three seconds left to give Chicago its winning margin.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Buffalo Braves beat the Capital Bullets 112-101, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the Cleveland Cavaliers 102-100 and the Seattle Supersonics defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 95-91.

The Utah Stars shaded the San Antonio Spurs 83-80 in the only American Basketball Association contest played.

Chet Walker led the Bulls' attack with 28 points, Jerry Sloan had 24 and Bob Love added 21. Bob Lanier, whose two free throws with 20 seconds left gave Detroit its last lead of the night, topped the Pistons with 27 points.

The Bulls are off to a fast start but still trail Milwaukee, off to an even faster start, by one game in the Midwest Division. The Bucks are 15-3.

Fullback Ed Zink top Dayton Flyer

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fullback Ed Zink, the leading rusher for the Dayton Flyers, was selected Sunday night as the team's most valuable player.

Zink, a 6-foot 195-pound senior, received the honor at the team's football banquet.

Rhode Island Reds rip Springfield Kings, 5-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rhode Island Reds have a little breathing room in the North Division of the American Hockey League and the Cincinnati Swords picked up another point on their closest opponent in the South.

The Reds whipped the Springfield Kings 5-1 — thanks to three goals by rookie Pierre Laganiere — in one of four AH-L games Sunday night.

The Swords tied the Jacksonville Barons 5-5 Sunday after defeating the Baltimore Clippers 5-2 Saturday to stretch their first-place lead to seven points over the Hershey Bears.

Wittenberg clinches OC football crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We lost to a great football team. There's no question about Wittenberg's being the best in the conference."

That assessment came from Marietta coach Joe McDaniel, whose Pioneers had absorbed a stinging 35-7 lesson Saturday at the hands of the unbeaten Tigers.

The victory gave Wittenberg the Ohio Conference football crown and made them a leading candidate for the NCAA College Division 3 playoffs.

In the Big Ten, national powerhouse Ohio State proved the experts right, mauling winless Iowa 55-13. The oddsmakers had favored the No. 1 ranked Buckeyes by seven touchdowns.

The victory, Ohio State's ninth straight this season, set up a duel with Michigan for the Big Ten championship and an invitation to the Rose Bowl. The Wolverines, also unbeaten in the conference, play host to the Buckeyes next weekend.

The only Mid-American Conference game of the day saw Kent State trouncing Toledo 51-16 as tailback Larry Poole and flanker Gerald Tinker combined for five touchdowns. It was the final league game of the season for both teams. Kent finished second with a 4-1 record, while Toledo dropped into a tie with cellar-dweller Western Michigan at 1-4.

In other Ohio action, bowlbound Miami of Ohio stunned Cincinnati with Larry Harper's 95-yard return of the opening kickoff. Then the Redskin defense allowed the Bearcats over the 50-yard line only four times to hang on for a 6-0 victory.

Workhorse running back John Cappelletti gained more than 200 yards and scored four times in less than three quarters, as sixth-ranked Penn State stampeded Ohio University 49-10.

Junior running back Tim Barrett scored three touchdowns in helping John Carroll to the Presidents Athletic Conference title with a 30-7 victory over Case Western Reserve.

And Wilmington lost a chance for a share of second place in the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, when it dropped a 20-15 decision to Earlham.

In other college football action involving Buckeye teams, it was Carnegie-Mellon 14, Hiram 13; Bowling Green 21, Northern Illinois 20; Xavier 13, Villanova 6; Marshall 37, Dayton 14; Central State 26, Federal City, D.C. 7; Akron 42, Gustavus Adolphus, Minn. 7; Youngstown State 44, Indiana State, Pa. 0.

Vikes, Falcons clash tonight

ATLANTA (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings, who already have clinched a division title, will be fighting to protect a 9-0 record in a televised game tonight with the Atlanta Falcons, whose rangy, strongarmed quarterback will be gunning to protect his own perfect record.

Falcon field general Bob Lee — a former backup quarterback in the Vikings camp — is undefeated since he took over the starting quarterback role for Atlanta from veteran Dick Shiner.

Lee has led the Falcons, now 6-3, to a five-game winning streak. Atlanta now trails the Los Angeles Rams by one game in the National Football Conference West Division title race. Minnesota has secured the NFC Central Division title.

"The game is naturally more important to Atlanta, which must keep winning if it is to get in the playoffs," said Viking Coach Bud Grant. "But on the other hand, we are 9-0 and we must recognize what the Atlanta game represents to us ... you learn more things when you win."

The American Broadcasting Company will televise the game beginning at 9 p.m. EST

Bucks-Wolverines clash set up by duel victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now for the Big One. Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team, and fourth-ranked Michigan, will battle at Ann Arbor Saturday for the Big Ten championship, the Rose Bowl bid and a possible national title.

The two teams crossed their final bridges last Saturday. Ohio State drowned Iowa 55-13 and Michigan finally overwhelmed Purdue 34-9.

While Michigan has had a few struggles along the way, including only a 6-3 halftime lead over Purdue, Ohio State has breezed in every game.

Minnesota took advantage of Illinois fumbles for a 19-16 victory which all but gave the Gophers third place in the conference, Wisconsin also rallied for a 36-34 victory over Northwestern and Michigan State held on for a 10-9 victory over Indiana.

Gill Fash, a senior quarterback pressed into his first varsity performance because of injuries, hurled a 29-yard touchdown pass to Dale Henricksen to lead Minnesota to its fumbleback victory over Illinois.

The Illini fumbled twice in the closing minutes and Minnesota turned both into scores for its victory.

Gregg Bohlig hit on a short touchdown pass to Rodney Rhodes with 33 seconds left to give the Badgers a tough, come-from-behind triumph over Northwestern.

Indiana had a shot to win a conference game and failed. The Hoosiers, trailing 10-0, got a field goal and finally a touchdown after a recovered fumble.

Instead of kicking the extra point for a tie, Coach Lee Corso, had his Hoosiers go for two points and a victory. The pass failed and Indiana remains winless in the Big Ten.

All eyes will be on the featured Ohio State-Michigan game Saturday but the rest of the league must play out the schedule with Illinois at Northwestern, Purdue at Indiana, Michigan State at Iowa and Wisconsin at Minnesota.

Barber wins World Open

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Miller Barber got the big check, but Ben Crenshaw got the big attention.

"I think I beat the next Jack Nicklaus," the 42-year-old Barber said after his final round 69 gave him a three-stroke victory over the youthful Crenshaw, probably the most exciting rookie to come along since Nicklaus turned pro.

Barber earned a $100,000 check — the biggest golf prize in history — after his 570 total won the 144-hole, two-week World Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

The total was two-over-par and represented the first overpar winning total in a year on the pro tour.

Crenshaw was within one stroke of the top spot until he tried to overpower a tee shot on the par-five 16th and hit it into the woods. He finished with a 71-573.

The gallery was with the strong, stocky, 21-year-old blond all the way. There was a gathering of only about 1,500 for the final round that was played in cool, breezy weather, but most were rooting for the young man who had won the San Antonio-Texas Open only two weeks before.

Cries of "go get 'em, Ben." and "Charge 'em, Longhorn," and "Best 'em Ben", echoed through the piney woods in this Carolina sandhill country. It was reminiscent of an Arnold Palmer gallery of past years.

National championship up for grabs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The holiday week is here and most of the bowl goodies have been dispensed, but the country's top college football teams will have no picnic with the showdowns for the national championship about to reach epic proportions.

For holiday openers Thursday, fifth-ranked Notre Dame entertains the Air Force, followed by the Southeastern Conference brouhaha at Baton Rouge, La., between second-ranked Alabama and Louisiana State, seventh in The Associated Press ratings.

On Friday, third-ranked Oklahoma hosts No. 10 Nebraska with a chance to nail down the Big Eight crown. On Saturday, top-rated Ohio State visits Michigan to settle the Big Ten title, followed by No. 8 UCLA against No. 9 Southern California in the Battle of Los Angeles for the Pacific-8 championship. The Big Ten and Pac-8 winners will meet in the Rose Bowl.

Those five games — involving nine of the nation's Top Ten teams — will be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

Over the past weekend, Ohio State trounced winless Iowa 55-13 as Archie Griffin set school records by rushing for 246 yards and raising his season total to 1,265. Michigan kept pace with a 34-9 triumph over Purdue as Dennis Franklin scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

UCLA rushed for 447 yards and smashed its own Pac-8 one season record in walloping Oregon State 56-14 behind Kermit Johnson's three touchdowns. Artimus Parker intercepted three passes and Anthony Davis and Ray Rodriguez scored eight seconds apart as Southern Cal trimmed Washington 42-19.

It was bowl bid weekend and Alabama won its way to the Sugar Bowl by whipping Miami of Florida 43-13 as Gary Rutledge passed for two touchdowns and scored one. The Crimson Tide will meet Notre Dame, idle last Saturday.

The Orange Bowl lined up No. 6 Penn State, a 49-10 victor over Ohio University behind John Cappelletti's 204 yards and four touchdowns, and Louisiana State, which beat Mississippi State 26-7 as Brad Davis paced a potent ground attack and Juan Roca kicked a 52-yard field goal.

No. 10 Nebraska made it to the Cotton Bowl with a 50-21 rout of Kansas State as Tony Davis scored three times. The Cornhuskers will meet No. 11 Texas, which clinched its sixth straight Cotton Bowl trip and a tie for the Southwest Conference crown by crushing Texas Christian 52-7. Roosevelt Leaks gained 105 yards and set an SWC season mark of 1,328.

Meanwhile, third-ranked Oklahoma, ineligible for a bowl trip, knocked off No. 18 Kansas 48-20 with Joe Washington and Steve Davis providing the offense and the Selmon brothers' defense zeroing in on quarterback David Jaynes. The Jayhawks, though, got a bid from the Liberty Bowl to meet No. 20 North Carolina State, which downed Duke 21-3.

Twelfth-ranked Texas Tech crushed Baylor 55-24 as John Garner, Larry Isaac and James Mosley combined for 348 yards rushing and earned a trip to the Gator Bowl against No. 16 Tennessee, even though the Vols bowed to Mississippi 28-18.

Woody Green and Danny White paced No. 13 Arizona State to a 54-13 rout of winless Texas-El Paso, setting up next weekend's Western Athletic Conference showdown with No. 19 Arizona, which dropped a 27-26 nonleague decision to Air Force. The WAC champ will meet Pitt, which blanked winless Army 34-0 and clinched its first winning season in a decade and first bowl trip since 1956 as freshman sensation Tony Dorsett ran for 161 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Missouri, ranked 14th, stumbled to Iowa State 17-7 but was picked for the Sun Bowl against another loser, Auburn. The Auburn Tigers — that's Missouri's nickname, too — bowed to Georgia 28-14.

No. 15 Houston was idle but accepted a bid to the hometown Bluebonnet Bowl against Tulane, a 24-3 winner over Vanderbilt.

Miami of Ohio became the first team to complete a perfect regular season. The 17th-ranked Redskins shaded Cincinnati 6-0 on Larry Harper's 95-yard dash with the opening kickoff. They will play in the Tangerine Bowl against an opponent to be named.

Maryland got into the Peach Bowl with a 28-13 win over Clemson. The Terrapins' opponent will be Georgia if the Bulldogs defeat Georgia Tech on Dec. 1.

Defending champion Dartmouth shut out Cornell 17-0 and remained tied for the Ivy League lead with one game left. Harvard, the party of the second part, nipped Brown 35-32 with Jim Stoeckel completing 22 passes, 13 to Pat McInally, who scored twice.

Tulsa won the Missouri Valley title by defeating North Texas State 24-15. Jeb Blount survived five interceptions and passed for 218 yards and a touchdown.

San Diego State took the Pacific Coast Athletic Association lead over idle San Jose State with a 41-6 rout of Fresno State as Jesse Freitas, the nation's leading passer, completed 33 of 42 for 450 yards and four touchdowns.

Bengals edge N. Y. Jets; win 20-14

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The scoreboard read: Cincinnati 20, New York 14. But Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown saw it differently in the lockerroom.

"If some of you fellows see Wilbur (Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank), tell him I thought we were lucky," said Brown, referring to his former college teammate and coaching aide.

The Bengals had just survived the sensational last-bid heroics of still-healing Jets quarterback Joe Namath for a 20-14 National Football League victory Sunday.

"I'm glad we won," said Brown, "but you're suppose to feel good after you win."

Namath, pro football's premier passer, had overcome the rust of eight weeks of idleness from a separated shoulder to move the Jets 79 yards to Cincinnati's one with seconds remaining.

He had entered the game with 4:40 remaining when starting quarterback Al Woodall was dazed by a tackle. It was up to the tender-winged Namath.

"It was sudden death for us," said Ewbank. "We had to move the ball."

Set life suspension for any race fixing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Directors of the United States Trotting Association agreed Sunday that persons convicted of race fixing will be suspended from the sport for life.

The directors also said persons with knowledge of fixing who don't report it to judges will face a one-year suspension.

$6,000 spent by city to quiet jackhammers

TORONTO (AP) — Toronto's works department is spending $60,000 for 10 quieter air compressors used by the city to power jackhammers and other construction equipment. The new compressors are 50 per cent more costly than less noisy ones.

D.J. Batty, the department's senior environmental engineer, said: "We can't put a ban on other people's noise without cleaning our own house first."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	2♦!	Dble	Pass
3 NT	Dble	Redble

This deal occurred in a rubber bridge game at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis. The story that goes with it is heartrending, if you consider the matter solely from the viewpoint of West, who was Al Sobel, for many years chief tournament director of the American Contract Bridge League.

South (Joe Cain) opened the bidding with a notrump and Sobel ventured the exotic overcall of two diamonds — which North doubled. It being luncthtime, Cain wanted to get the rubber over with as soon as possible and, accordingly, he went right to three notrump.

Having now caught the fly in the trap, Sobel doubled. North treated this as a personal insult and redoubled!

You may wonder why, under these circumstances, Sobel would have any cause for complaint. He had maneuvered the opponents to exactly the position he wanted them to be. But, unfortunately, while Sobel was licking his chops and before he had a chance to lead his fourth best heart, East led a club out of turn!

The irregularity occurred back in the days when one of declarer's options was the privilege of calling an opening lead.

So Cain cheerfully asked East to put the club back in his hand and requested West to lead a diamond. Sobel of course obeyed and the upshot was that Cain made five notrump, thanks to the lead out of turn.

This proved to be an enormous swing, since South would have gone down three — 1,600 points — with a heart lead, but instead scored 1,750 points for making three notrump redoubled with two overtricks.

Sobel was understandably unhappy over the outcome, but Cain very much enjoyed his lunch that day.

Speaking of Your Health...

Flu Vaccine Is Not for Colds

Each year before the cold weather sets in the question arises as to whether or not all members of the family should be vaccinated against Asian flu.

Reports from various sources confirm or deny the possibility that an epidemic can be anticipated.

It must now be accepted that variations of Asian influenza will occur this winter in some form, mild or epidemic.

Although there is no present indication that any massive epidemic is expected, nevertheless, hospitals are telling their personnel that vaccine injections are valuable.

Public Health officials, too, are recommending vaccination in the elderly, especially those who are infirm and have a chronic debilitating disease.

The vaccine, made from many different viruses, is generally considered effective in reducing the severity of the flu, even in those cases where it does not definitely protect against it.

Since there are no unusual or dangerous reactions to the vaccine, there are no sensible reasons why patients should not take it when it is recommended by their doctor.

Too often people are confused by the fact that they can catch a cold even after they have had the flu vaccine. To them it may seem that the vaccine did not work, therefore was valueless.

It must be emphasized that the Asian flu vaccine offers protection only against the epidemic form of influenza, and not against the common cold.

The health bulletins being issued suggest that all those who plan to be vaccinated should do so some time in November so that the maximum benefit can be obtained.

The physicians's judgment about the value of the vaccine for younger age groups will, of course, determine the extent of the use of the vaccine.

Patients who have surgery of the gall bladder or on other abdominal organs often ask why the appendix is almost routinely removed, even when there have been no symptoms relative to it.

Many surgeons, when operating in the abdominal cavity, almost routinely remove the appendix as a good preventive procedure. This reduces the possibility of another operation should the appendix ever become inflamed or infected.

The procedure adds little or no risk to the original operation. It does not add to the convalescent period or to the post-operative discomfort.

Since the appendix is known to be of no importance in the functioning of the body, it will not be missed when removed.

TO LO HO RE CA

A ceremonial for the To Lo Ho Re Ca Camp Fire group was held in the Wilson Elementary School this week. Girls carried lighted white candles as they formed the circle. Officers Tonya Burnett, president, lighted a red candle; Zina Tate, vice president, lighted the white one; and Rhonda Pressler, secretary, the red candle.

Awards of Ho-To-Se, Project Hand Clasp, three-year pins, certificates, Rank Beads, Trail Seekers and Wood Gatherer patches, Swim patch and new membership pins were presented to the 13 members by Mrs. Ralph Tate, Mrs. Ronald Dowler and Mrs. William Pressler.

Girls answered roll call with their Indian name or Kohla, and Indian word meaning 'friend.' Each member spoke about her favorite times in Camp Fire and also set a goal of accomplishment for the highest rank in Camp Fire. The ceremonial was closed by the girls singing Green Trees. All left the friendship circle with lighted candles.

Refreshments of brownies and punch were served by Jody Filmore and Sherry Dowler. Next weeks hostesses will be Joyce Brown and Melissa Leeth.

Rhonda Pressler, secretary.

'73 tax duplicates now in preparation

Tax duplicates are now being prepared for 1973 and the first district tabulation was handed to the Fayette County treasurer's office Monday morning, according to Mrs. Mary Morris, county auditor.

Mrs. Morris said the preparation of the 1973 tax duplicates is well ahead of last year's schedule.

Tax valuation in Fayette County was increased $1,562,150 this year. The increase in valuation was due to new construction and change in use of land which includes new housing developments, Mrs. Morris said. Fayette County now has a total tax valuation of $107,863,485.

The county has received tentative approval on tax rates. Mrs. Morris said there will be a slight increase in some of the districts and some have been reduced. The city of Washington C.H. rates will remain exactly the same as a year ago.

The .20-mill general health levy, approved by voters at the Nov. 6 election, will apply to all taxing districts and the decrease in rate of .10-mill for the retirement of county hospital bonds will affect all taxing districts.

The reason the city of Washington C.H. did not reflect any increase, Mrs. Morris pointed out, was it was able to reduce the school bond retirement millage by .10-mill.

Harold Hise, county treasurer, is now preparing the tax bills.

WCH man held for burglary, theft of truck

WILMINGTON — A Washington C.H. man has been charged with breaking and entering in connection with a burglary at the Melvin Stone Co., Melvin, Friday night.

Clinton County Sheriff Donald L Osborn said Jerry L. Downard, 25, is lodged in Clinton County jail awaiting hearing in connection with the burglary in which $10,000 in Melvin Stone Co., checks were stolen. No bond or hearing date had been set.

The stolen checks were discovered in a wrecked pickup truck on Melvin Road, just off CCC-Highway-W, early Saturday. The 1970 model pickup truck had been stolen from the stone company and wrecked after being chased by Ohio Highway Patrol officers. Downard also has been charged with the theft of the truck, Sheriff Osborn said.

He was arrested Saturday by Clinton County sheriff's deputies in Washington C.H. They were assisted by members of the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Taken in the theft and recovered along with the checks, were several blank checks and two check writers.

The Highway Patrol had attempted to stop Downard for insufficient taillights when he wrecked the pickup truck.

'Childhood education' clinic held

Present from Madison County were Mrs. Mary Agnes Emrick and Mrs. Elnora Armintrout, of Madison Plains High School, and Mrs. Susan Friend, Madison County elementary school supervisor.

Mrs. Slaughter and Miss King arranged for the luncheon table centerpieces, which featured table games and puzzles related to classroom learning.

Dr. Margaret Weiser, of the University of Iowa, was the principal speaker. Her theme was "Play Is Education." In a detailed explanation, Dr. Weiser showed how children playing with blocks develop the skills necessary for social, emotional, physical and intellectual learning.

Mrs. Slaughter and Miss King led those at their tables in a discussion in which all the skills mentioned by Dr. Weiser were identified when the children played with table games and puzzles. Dr. Weiser closed by saying "play begins with delight and ends with wisdom."

Small group sessions were led by members of the Miami University faculty. Dr. Eileen Tway led a discussion pertaining to "The Role of Children's Literature in Child Development." Dr. Tway, a native of Fayette County, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Tway, of New Martinsburg, and a graduate of Greenfield McClain High School.

On display were several tables of teacher-made aids. Those by Miami Trace teachers occupied the space of three tables.

Dog license fees remain unchanged

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday morning established the fee for dog licenses in the county this year.

The dog license fee is $4 and the kennel fee is $20. The fees are the same as last year. Licenses will go on sale Dec. 1 and the deadline is Jan. 20. Penalties will be $2. The penalty was raised $1 from last year.

The board has made arrangements through Associated Plumbers, here, to have the American Standard Plumbing Co. inspect all radiators and other heating elements in the Courthouse Wednesday to determine the feasibility of installing individual thermostats on each radiator in an effort to conserve fuel in light of the recent energy crisis.

In other matters, Reginald (Chink) Davis, county dog warden, submitted 47 reports for last week.

Commissioners held their semi-annual inspection of the Fayette County Children's Home at 11 a.m. Monday.
